Preface

The Arthur Paul Afghanistan Collection at the University of Nebraska at Omaha Library was established in 1974 with the donation of the personal library of Arthur Paul. Mr. Paul was chief of the Office of Imports for the Board of Economic Warfare, executive director of the U.S. Foreign Economic Administration and assistant to the Secretary of Commerce. He served the Asia Foundation as an economic advisor to the Royal Government of Afghanistan from 1960-1966. During his service in Afghanistan, Mr. Paul accumulated over 400 English language monographs, 450 books, serials and other publications in Pushto and Dari, and over 100 European titles on Afghanistan.

Following the receipt of Arthur Paul's collection the UNO Library began purposefully organizing it for use by international scholars. The Library has adopted a goal of acquiring everything available in print from and about Afghanistan. Nearly 70% of the collection is concentrated in the humanities. It is a primary resource for Afghanistan scholarship and the most valuable resource of its kind in the United States.

The University Library's goal is to organize and maintain this collection, and to enhance its scope to assist scholars who frequently refer to UNO for information on Afghanistan. The library continues to acquire material for its Afghan collection through publishers, vendors, book dealers and private collectors.

Ms. Shaista Wahab has done extensive work and indexing to bring this publication to press. Her hard work will be appreciated by many doing research on the past, present and future of Afghanistan. The UNO Library is proud to be the home of the Arthur Paul Afghanistan Collection.

Introduction

The Arthur Paul Afghanistan Collection Bibliography is based on the Afghanistan materials available in the Arthur Paul Afghanistan Collection at the University Library, University of Nebraska at Omaha (UNO). The purpose of this bibliography is to make this unique collection of the Afghanistan materials known to scholars and researchers interested in the subject area. The importance of the Afghanistan collection became more significant after the Russians invaded Afghanistan in December of 1979, and as a result of the invasion, information from Afghanistan became difficult to obtain. Since then the collection has been used more extensively. Many scholars have focused their attention on various issues concerning Afghanistan and have used the resources of this collection.

The UNO Library continues to add to its holdings on Afghanistan. Currently the library has six thousands titles on Afghanistan pertaining to Afghan life and culture from the prehistoric period to the present, in more than twenty different languages. However, the majority of these materials are in English, Dari and Pashto. Although history and literature are well represented by this collection, other subject areas such as economics, education, folklore, law, music, agriculture, architecture, geography, and geology, also serve the needs of research scholars from around the world.

The Bibliography will be completed in two volumes. Volume I of the Arthur Paul Afghanistan Collection Bibliography: Pashto and Dari Titles, includes those titles that had been cataloged by the Library before January 1992. Since then the Library has acquired a significant number of titles on Afghanistan from various sources. The bibliography will be updated or a supplement will be published in order to include those titles that the Library has acquired but have not been listed in this volume. The work on the volume II of the Arthur Paul Afghanistan Collection Bibliography: English and Other European Language has been started and will be available for publication in 1996.

The Bibliography is arranged by subject, and within each subject alphabetically by the authors' last name and/or title. An item number has been assigned to each entry to facilitate locating a specific author or title by consulting a combined author and title index. Each entry includes author, title, publisher, place and date of publication, and number of pages. Some entries include brief annotations for the sake of clarity. If the publisher is not found on the piece, it has been indicated that the publisher is not known. If the date of the publication is in question, a question mark will appear after the date.

A revision of this bibliography is planned for the future. Any suggestions for improvement will be appreciated and may be reflected, along with other changes and additions, in the revised edition.

I would like to thank Ghulam Ali Ayeen, Research Associate, Center for Afghanistan Studies, UNO; and the following UNO Library faculty and staff members for their help and support: Mae D. McKernan, Georgene E. Fawcett, Carole A. Larson, Sally Andersen, Robert Nash, Monica M. Pfeifer, and Dr.
Melvin M. Bohn. I am especially thankful to Janet Macdonald who was available whenever I needed her help and who spent many hours helping me with the Bibliography. I also express my appreciation to Ella Jane Bailey, Chairperson, Bibliographic Access Services, UNO Library; Janice S. Boyer, UNO Library Assistant Director; and Robert S. Runyon, the UNO Library
Director, for their support and useful suggestions.

The Arthur Paul Afghanistan Collection is comprehensive in scope. The library seeks to acquire materials in all languages and on any subject pertaining to Afghan life and culture, from the prehistoric period to the present. Although the majority of the collection consists of history and literature, other areas such as economics, education, folklore, law, agriculture, language, architecture, music, geography and geology are included. Items date from early nineteenth century to the present and include books, periodicals, microforms, maps, documents, newspapers, dissertations, organizational and personal papers. Most of the collection consists of materials in English and the two official languages of Afghanistan, Pashto and Dari (Persian). In addition, there are publications in many other languages including German, French and Russian.
