PANAMA SUSPENDS RELATIONS WITH US, Fighting Breaks In Canal Zone; Fifteen People Die Security Council's Debate Johnson, Chiari Say Feud Should Stop

NEW YORK, January 11. (Reuter).—

RIOTING flared again Friday in Panama with Panamanians and U.S. troops exchanging shots in the Canal Zone border near Balboa and unconfirmed reports said that a lynch mob in Northern Panama hanged two Americans.

The Associated Press said so far 15 people have been killed three of whom are Americans. One report said that the U.S. Embassy in Panama City was being evacuated as the Panama National Guard stated it could not guarantee the lives of Americans on the streets off the city. Early Friday President Roberto Chiari said Panama has suspended relations with the United States.

President Johnson and President Roberto Chiari agreed during a 15-minute telephone conversation that there "had to be a stop" to the violence in the Canal Zone, which according to some reporters has claimed 14 lives, with 159 wounded.

Later, in a telephone interview with a New York radio station, President Chiari reported fresh casualties in renewed firing and called on U.S. troops to stop shooting at Panamanians.

Asked whether students were provoking the rioting, he said, "there might be a few of them, but the worst is coming from the United States Army."

DPA said the Organization of the American States (OAS) Council decided in an emergency meeting Friday to dispatch members of its Peace Committee to Panama in an effort to mediate between Panama and the United States.

The Peace Committee is a permanent body of the OAS and acts in a mediating capacity.

Members of this committee are Venezuela, Colombia, the United States, the Dominican Republic and Argentina.

Negotiations between the Peace Committee members and the Panamanian Ambassador Guillermo Aranga started behind closed doors before the OAS emergency session began.

The actual emergency session got under way with considerable delay to the Peace Committee are to leave for Panama immediately.

President Johnson told President Chiari that he was sending Mr. Mann and a group of other officials to Panama.

In a formal statement, the White House said that Johnson, having noted President Chiari's appeal to the citizens of Panama to join in the restoration of peace, was making a similar appeal to the residents of the Canal Zone.

"The path to a settlement can come only through peace and understanding and not through violence," it said.

Mr. Mann was leaving Washington by jet and was due to arrive in the Canal Zone Friday.

Flying with him were Mr. Cyrus Vance, Secretary of the Army, travelling in his capacity as the U.S. official responsible for the

Britain Will Take Part In Mixed-Man NATO Exercise

LONDON, Jan. 11. (Reuter).—Britain is prepared to take part in a forthcoming demonstration of the NATO mixed manned nuclear force idea aboard an American guided missile destroyer.

A British Foreign Office spokesman said here Friday that Britain is "prepared to take part in the experiment in mixed manning to be carried out in connection with the proposed mixed manned nuclear force."

He said details had yet to be settled.

The spokesman, answering questions at his daily press conference pointed out that Britain's participation in the trial run to see how the mixed-manned idea would work did not commit her to joining the American proposed mixed manned force of polaris-armed surface vessels.

The pilot-project scheme and other details are being discussed in special working groups in Washington and Paris.

Earlier Thursday authoritative British Government sources had mistakenly said that an early British decision to take part in the pilot ship trial was unlikely.

British Troops In Brunei Smash Entire Terrorist Bands, Reports Thorneycroft

BRUNEI TOWN, Brunei, Jan. 11. (AP).—BRITISH Defence Minister Peter Thorneycroft said Friday, British troops have smashed virtually all terrorist bands that crossed from Indonesian Borneo into Malaysian Federation territory.

"Our troops, I find, are in very good heart and obviously in control of the situation, Mr. Thorneycroft said after touring jungle units in Sarawak.

The Defence Minister told newsmen there presently was no need to request troops from Australia or New Zealand to assist in the sporadic jungle warfare Britain is waging under a defence agreement with Malaysia in the former British Borneo territories now called Sabah and Sarawak.

"If additional troops were needed we would find additional troops," but we don't need them at the moment," he said.

About 5,000 British troops were reported in Sarawak. British casualties were classified but thought it would be much less than 100.

The British claim to have killed about 85 terrorists.

U.N. SPECIAL COMMITTEE ON S. AFRICA POLICY OF APARTHEID CONVENES

UNITED NATIONS, Jan. 11. (AP).—

THE 11-Nation Special Committee on the South African Government's policy of apartheid (race segregation) has held the first 1964 meeting of any U.N. body.

The Chairman, Diallo Telli of Guinea, said it did so "because the situation in South Africa is getting more and more serious and is worsening constantly."

Mr. Diallo briefed correspondents after the three-hour private meeting Thursday. He said the Committee adopted a work programme for the year, sent letters seeking co-operation from new U.N. members, the specialized agencies and Secretary-General U Thant, and asked its rapporteur to continue the progress started last year.

He reported that it assigned its offices to see the officers of the Special Committee on Colonialism about avoiding duplication of work between the two bodies, and decided to increase publicity.

The Committee will meet March 9, Mr. Diallo said, to discuss the results of these actions. Meantime, he added, it will consider in constant session and "will meet any time that appears to be necessary or useful."

He will leave Friday for Conakry to talk with his government about the 1963 General Assembly.

Mr. Diallo said the Committee studies would now be extended to South West Africa, because the situation in that mandated territory was "one of the aspects and one of the consequences" of apartheid.

He said it would study the best ways to carry out the Security Council's August resolution urging all countries to stop selling arms to South Africa, and would intensify its investigation of investments in and trade with South Africa.

"We have decided," he said, "to offer our full co-operation and will not enter into differences or conflict with any other body that was set up on the same problem."

The Committee on colonialism deals with "Southwest Africa."

For the Security Council, Secretary-General U Thant is to set up a group of experts to study how to resolve the South African race situation peacefully.

Muslims In Calcutta Mistreated, Charges Pakistani Envoy

NEW DELHI, Jan. 11. (AP).—Pakistan charged Friday there had been an outbreak of lawlessness against Muslims in Calcutta and asked India to halt it.

The charge was made by Pakistan's High Commissioner to India, Arshad Hussain, in a meeting with India's Commonwealth Secretary C.S. Jha, according to a Pakistani spokesman.

On Thursday, Jha had called Hussain in to charge Hindus were involved in rioting in the Khulna area of East Pakistan.

Calcutta and Khulna are 75 miles apart across the border drawn in 1947 when the old British India was partitioned. Pakistan was retained for Muslims and independent India was left as a predominantly Hindu nation. But millions of Hindus remained in Pakistan and Muslims in India.

Since 1947 there have been numerous outbreaks of violence against minority religious communities left in both countries.

According to a Pakistani spokesman here, disturbances without a religious basis began in Khulna because of the theft of a hair believed by Muslims to be from the Prophet Mohammad. This sacred relic was stolen Dec. 26 in the India-controlled part of Kashmir state whose ownership India and Pakistan dispute and was officially reported recovered Jan. 4.

Indian press reports have quoted Pakistani officials as saying 29 persons were killed in the Khulna disturbances.

operation of the Panama Canal. Mr. Edwin Martin, former Assistant Secretary of State for Inter-American affairs and now Ambassador-Designate to Argentina, and Mr. Ralph Dungan a member of the White House staff.

The White House said the U.S. Government "greatly regrets the tragic loss of life of Panamanians and Americans" in the Canal Zone.

It said that President Johnson had given "earnest instructions" to General Andrew G. Mearns, Commander in Chief of Southern Command, to do all within his power to restore and maintain peace and safety in the Canal Zone.

In New York the Security Council was called into emergency session to take up charges by Panama that the United States had committed "aggression".

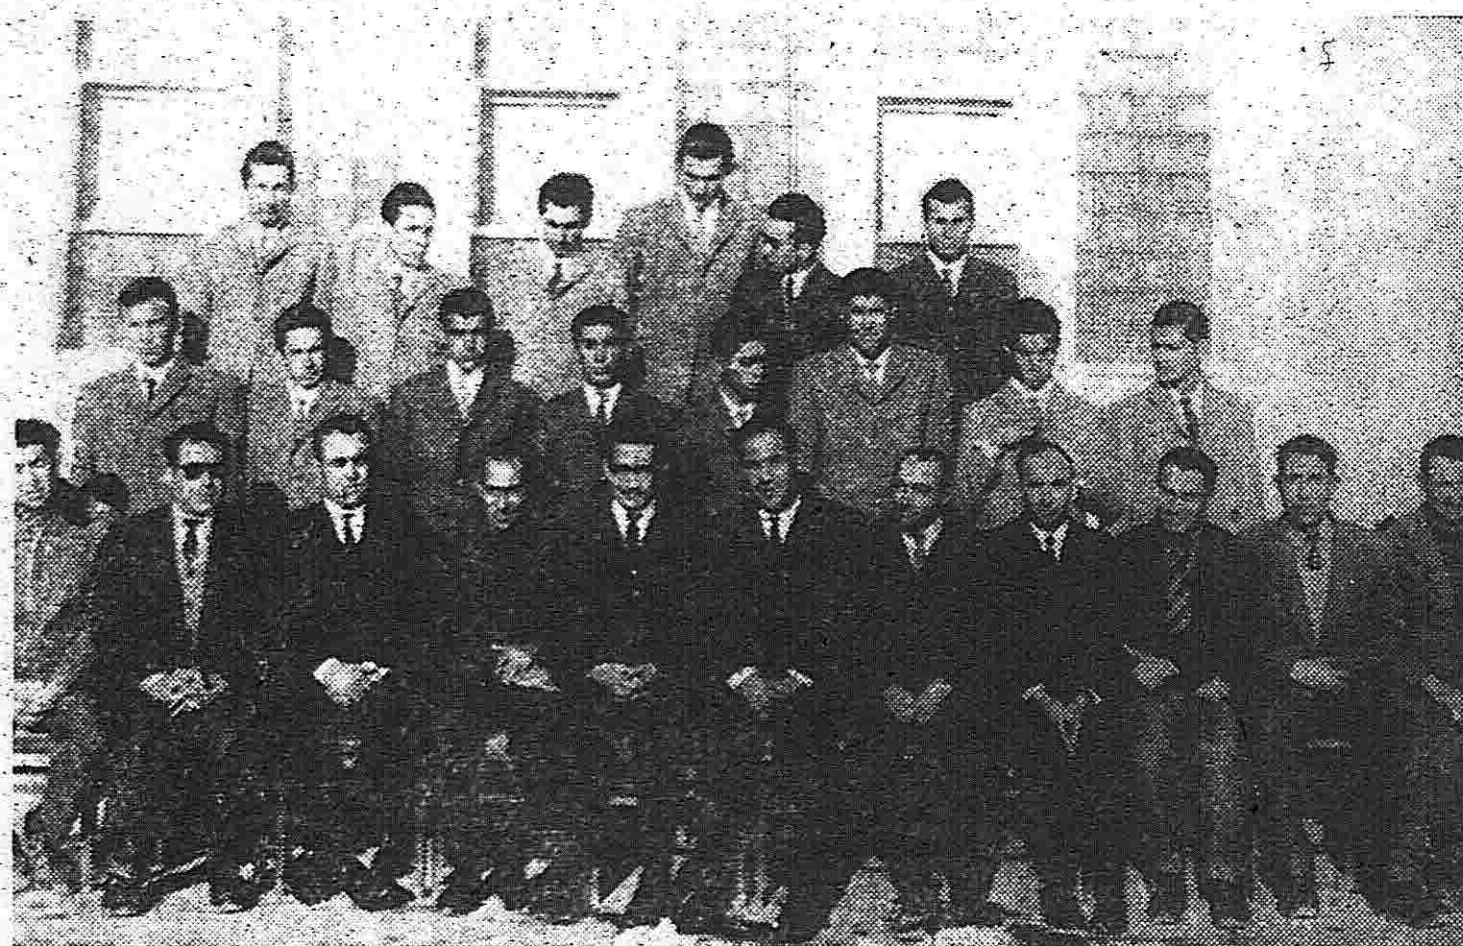

The request for the meeting was lodged late Friday by Dr. Aquilino Boyd, Chief Delegate of Panama, who rushed back to New York Friday from Panama City.

Prior to a meeting with the Council President Senor Renan Cautrillo Justino of Bolivia, the Panamanian delegate told reporters that he would ask the Security body to take "proper measures to stop American aggression".

Moscow radio monitored in London, accused the United States of a "bloody act of repression against the Panamanians" and of issuing "lying statements" about the riots in the Panama Canal Zone.

It said U.S. troops opened machine-gun and rifle fire on Panamanian students who were holding a peaceful demonstration, and that the U.S. command later issued a statement saying the troops attacked the students at Panamanian request.

Rusk Calls On USSR To Help Build Machinery Of U.N. Peacekeeping

NEW YORK, January 11. (AP)—

U.S. Secretary of State Dean Rusk invited the Soviet Union Friday to prove that Premier Khrushchev was serious when he proposed that nations of the world should renounce the use of force in settling territorial issues.

"Peace will not be achieved by repeating worn-out propaganda themes or re-setting rusty old traps," Rusk said in a speech at a Dag Hammarskjöld memorial lecture at Columbia University.

The Panama crisis prevented Rusk from delivering his speech personally. He asked the Assistant Secretary of State for international organization affairs, to read the speech.

"If our Soviet friends are prepared to act on what chairman Khrushchev says in part of his new year's message that war over territorial questions is unacceptable, that nations should not be the targets of direct or indirect aggression, that we should use the United Nations and every other means of peaceful settlement then let us together build up peace-keeping machinery of the United Nations and develop United Nations to prevent even small wars in our flammable world," Rusk said.

In recalling the 25-year-long history of the United Nations, Rusk paid tribute to its late Secretary-General who, he said, was an "intensely practical idealist" who worked for peace through selfless and tireless action and for this we honour the man.

Beside his one paragraph answer to Khrushchev's January 3 message to world leaders, Rusk devoted his speech entirely to the problems of the United Nations.

He said he believes that the influence of the world organization will increase in the 1970's and that the United Nations' "executive capacity" will also be greater in the coming decades.

He said it is obvious that in 1970's the world will require a more active international organization.

"Science will rush ahead, paving to us the task of fashioning institutions increasingly on the international level—to administer its problems and circumscribe its dangers," Rusk said and added that though many nations may continue to cling to national values, ambitions and prerogatives, "science has created a functional international society, whether we like it or not."

Rusk said the United Nations helped to avert and to terminate

NEW DELHI, Jan. 11. (AP)—Two-day official talks between India and Pakistan over the demarcation of disputed territory on the Assam-East Pakistan border have failed, an Indian Foreign Ministry spokesman said Friday.

He said the Pakistani team had flown home.

The dispute arose over the interpretation of a decision by British Lord Radcliffe which delineated the boundary between India and Pakistan after independence in 1947.
