TO OUR FRIENDS.

THE SANTEE NORMAL TRAINING-SCHOOL, now under the charge of the American Missionary Association, was definitely started fifteen years ago, in 1870, though its beginnings were still back of that. It was established for the purpose of raising up teachers, preachers, interpreters, and business men for the Dakota or Sioux nation. In raising the standard of higher education for the Indian, our progress has necessarily been slow. We have had to plant the very idea of the thing in the Indian mind and carefully tend its growth. And now others are sharing with us the fruit of these labors. Considering the difficulties to be overcome, our best hopes have been realized in the number of our pupils who are or have been engaged in responsible positions as teachers, preachers, or Government clerks. But still more than this, we find our success in the revolution that has taken place in the Indian mind, now anxiously seeking for educational advantages.

INDUSTRIAL EDUCATION.

In a certain sense industrial training is at the very foundation of our work. It is not incidental or accidental, but fundamental to our theory of education. We believe in it as a condition to true self-knowledge, and as the necessary avenue to the knowledge of the world without. And, furthermore, we regard manual training and industrial occupations as the best means for that discipline of mind and will which gives the fibre of high moral character. Hence with us industrial education does not mean merely teaching "how to make a living," but rather "how to enter into life." And our aim in all occupations, in the house, the farm, or the shops, is to make all subserve this end.

NORMAL TRAINING.

Our school is a normal training-school in the double sense of being loyal to the normal or natural laws of education, and as a training-school for teachers. The great object of our work is to prepare a native agency that shall work as leaven the regeneration of their own people. Hence, while we plan to fit them as individuals for citizenship with us, we are also careful to maintain their common interest and sympathy with their own race. This gives law to our methods, and makes it needful to use two languages—the English and the vernacular—in order to make them competent instructors among their own people. Were it not required on this account, there is yet no other way so good for giving a knowledge of idiomatic English as by the study of comparative grammar.

A MISSIONARY SCHOOL.

Indians are controlled by a fatalistic religious philosophy from which nothing but true religion can liberate them. Hence the hope of their regeneration does not lie in education or in civilization, but in the gospel and Spirit of Jesus the Christ. Education and civilization are of use only as instruments of this gospel. Our aim, therefore, is to bring everything into a religious atmosphere, and make Christianity the ruling power of life. And we confidently expect our pupils to become, in one way and another, missionaries of the new life they find. Nor are we disappointed.

HIGHER EDUCATION FOR INDIANS.

Higher and lower are only comparative terms, depending on the standard by which we compare. Of course our programme of studies is not high as compared with schools in our white communities; but it means a great deal to be able to teach Indians understandingly the elements of geometry, algebra, physiology, physical geography, natural philosophy, and mental science.

ENLARGEMENT.

This institution has now a standing and reputation among the tribes of the Dakota stock which is continually drawing in more students to it. The necessity is upon us to enlarge. We now hope to occupy the new Dining Hall the coming year, but the second and third stories have yet much to be done to complete them, and we will have to wait for more funds. The printing-office fund has received some additions, but the larger part of the $1,000 needed is yet to come in. Then the furnishing of the 37 rooms in the second and third stories, for sitting-rooms, offices, teachers' rooms and pupils' dormitories, will give opportunity for a number of our friends to exercise their benevolence.

HOW TO SEND.

On account of the enlargement of the school and the number of school families embraced in it, it will be better, hereafter, that friends making gifts of clothing or bedding should send them directed to the principal of the school, so that they may be distributed from the general storeroom, according to the needs of each house. All things coming by freight or express (United States Express Co.) should be shipped to Springfield, Dakota.
