On Friday, October 12, 2018, dozens of guests enjoyed a special evening at Criss Library! The event was a celebration of books and the culture that surrounds them. Guests were treated to a five-course wine dinner prepared by Chefs Joseph Vaughn and Fred Schultz of UNO Dining Services. The dinner was followed by a tour of the Creative Appian Way, John C. Fremont's expeditions in the 1840s, Theodore Roosevelt's travels to Africa, and the fabled Lincoln Highway. Guests were also treated to a tour of the Creative Appian Way, John C. Q: What is your favorite part about being a student at UNO?
A: My favorite part of being at UNO is the academic atmosphere; being around others who want to learn. I'd like to encourage other students to take advantage of the plethora of resources; that includes professors and fellow students. There is so much information available. I wish I would've known about it earlier.

Q: Do your friends/family know you've painted this mural? What do they think?
A: Yes, my friends and family are very supportive of my art. My high school art teacher, who is one of my greatest mentors, is proud of the work I've done and encourages me to continue pursuing my passion.

Q: How many murals have you painted in the past? Where are they?
A: I've painted several murals in the past, including one in my high school's art room and another in a local café. I also have a mural in progress in my hometown's community center.

Q: What is your favorite part of being a student at UNO?
A: My favorite part of being a student at UNO is the culture of service. The library and UNO community members in taking the next steps towards sustainability. The open access services provided by UNO Libraries continue to paywall. Open access plays a part in leveling access to immediate access to scholarship that is not hidden behind a paywall.
