Welcome, New and Returning Mavs!

We are so excited to meet you and help you this semester, and beyond! Because of the COVID-19 pandemic, some of our services have been altered to accommodate the campus guidelines. When you are in the library, per the campus face covering policy, you are required to wear a mask, and the furniture has been moved to promote safe distancing while you study. There are also sanitation stations with wipes and standing hand sanitizer dispensers throughout the library to help protect yourself and those around you. To keep up with any changes in service or hours, you can visit the Library Continuity Plan.

The Archive and Special Collections are open for you to use Monday through Friday from 9am-5pm. This is a great way to search through historical documents, find primary sources, and view specialized collections for a paper or project. The Creative Production Lab is open for use, to see more about their Fall Hours and services offered, view their updates here. The CPL can help with projects, both academic and personal; if you've got an idea, they can help bring it to life!

We have a plethora of online resources available to you whether you are taking classes in person, online, or in a hybrid setting. This includes our vast collection of databases, e-reserves and e-books, audio and video streaming. In addition to the many online resources available to you, there are plenty of books, both academic and leisure, that you can use in projects or to find a good story. If you need to take a break from some schoolwork, check out the Board and Video game collection, or the popular fiction section. If you need quiet space to focus, we have group and single study rooms available to reserve. To check out items, or enter study rooms, the only thing you need is your MavCard!

Finally, find out who your subject librarian is, and make an appointment to get research help when working on a paper, or project. Whether we see you in person, or virtually, we are thrilled to help all of the new and returning Mavericks!
