UNO's HLC/AQIP Accreditation Process

An Overview for UNO Stakeholders

UNO's Institutional Accreditation

- UNO has been continuously accredited by the Higher Learning Commission since 1939
- Higher Learning Commission (HLC):
 - Formerly known as North Central Association
 - One of six regional accrediting bodies for post-secondary degree-granting institutions in the nation
 - Covers a 19 state region, ranging from Illinois to Colorado, and Wyoming to Arizona

Institutional Accreditation vs. Program-specific Accreditation

- HLC accreditation covers the entire institution and includes all academic programs
- In addition, many specific degree programs have sought and been awarded their corresponding discipline-based, program-specific accreditation (for example, Social Work is accredited by the Council on Social Work Education (CSWE), and Chemistry is accredited by the American Chemical Society (ACS))
- Both institutional and program-specific accreditation support quality through adherence to rigorous standards

Pathways to Institutional Accreditation

- HLC has 3 pathway options (with slightly different requirements and schedules)
- UNO is on the AQIP Pathway (Academic Quality Improvement Process)
- AQIP focuses on Continuous Improvement (with heavy emphasis on assessment, data, review, decision-making, program enhancement)

UNO's Re-accreditation, Schedule-Wise

- 2015-16 is year 6 of an 8 year cycle
- This year we focus on the Systems Portfolio preparation; that report is due Fall '16
- The Federal Compliance Report will be due Fall '17
- The Comprehensive Quality Review and Visit will take place within the 2017-18 academic year
- Every year there are 3 Action Projects to be carried out, and an annual institutional update due

Why is Institutional Accreditation Important?

- Federal financial assistance requires institutional accreditation
- Most graduate programs require students' undergraduate degree to be from an accredited institution
- Accreditation provides public accountability, serving as higher ed's primary mechanism to demonstrate quality and justify expenditures
- Accreditation is now closely tied to federal government oversight
- A matter of prestige, reputation, and viability

Institutional Re-accreditation will Encompass

- Meeting all of the standards outlined within:
 - AQIP categories/sub-categories
 - HLC criteria/core components
 - Federal Compliance requirements
 - Assumed Practices
- And, for all AQIP items, provision of evidence/documentation regarding:
 - Policies/procedures/programming
 - Assessment processes
 - Actual data
 - Data review process
 - Improvements/program changes based on data

Assessment Systems in Place at UNO that Cross Programs

- Program Review, Program-specific Accreditation
- End-of-Program Student Learning Outcomes Process
- Gen Ed Student Learning Outcomes Process
- New Student Wellness Survey
- National Survey of Student Engagement
