Dear UNO Colleagues,

As the semester draws to a close we celebrate the achievements of UNO students and faculty. The third annual Student Research and Creative Activity Fair was held in early April and featured over 100 fabulous oral presentations, posters and performances. The topics were as varied as our campus and the Office of Research and Creative Activity sends our sincere thanks to the students who participated and to their faculty mentors. In 2012 we will be moving the Fair away from the hustle and bustle of Honors Week and changing the format somewhat. We welcome any input on how to make the Fair an even greater success.

Also, as of this writing 32 undergraduate students have been selected as awardees of grants from the Fund for Undergraduate Scholarly Experience (FUSE). We are excited by this new opportunity for students and look forward to seeing the results of their work at next year's Fair.

The hard work of our faculty scholars is evidenced by the over $6 million in awards reported in this bulletin. April has also provided additional excitement for UNO and our faculty recipients of prestigious research and creative activity awards. Professor Michael Bishop of the Department of Geography/Geology won UNO's Distinguished Research and Creative Activity award for his globally recognized research in the assessment of mountain terrain and glaciers. The winner of this year's University of Nebraska system-wide Outstanding Research and Creative Activity Award is Professor G. J. de Vreede of the College of Information Science and Technology. Professor de Vreede's research into collaboration has earned an international reputation and is a pillar of UNO's unique Center for Collaboration Science. Congratulations to both Michael and G.J.!

A final reminder that summer is prime grant writing time and that the Office of Research and Creative Activity is open for business and ready to help! Have a great summer!

Sincerely,

Scott Snyder
