ACADEMIC REGALIA

Identification of the hood and robe as academic apparel is believed to have originated at the English universities of Oxford and Cambridge during the twelfth and thirteenth centuries. The hoods are a carry-over from the times when monks, who operated these universities, wore them to protect their shaved heads in winter. The robe is an adaptation of the shoulder cape also worn by these same monks while collecting alms.

Use of the academic robe came to the United States in 1754 with the founding of what is now Columbia University. In 1895, a commission of University officials adopted a universal code of design and color for the academic garb. This code has undergone several revisions in subsequent years.

Styling of the robes varies for the bachelor's, master's and doctoral degrees with the width of sleeve borders and length of the hood increasing with each advanced degree. Hoods are normally not used for bachelor's degrees today. Instead, the tassel colors are used to indicate the degree program. All doctoral degree recipients are indicated by a gold tassel.

UNIVERSITY HONORS PROGRAM

The University Honors Program is an all-University program which provides maximum educational opportunities for students of high ability through special multidisciplinary seminars and participation in an academic level not generally possible in usual curricular offerings.

The program is an outgrowth of the Arts and Sciences Honors program and was initiated in 1978. It is governed through the office of the Vice Chancellor for Academic Affairs and administered through the Honors Coordinator. UNO colleges which implement honors programs include Arts and Sciences, Business Administration, Education, Fine Arts, Public Affairs and Community Service, and Information Science and Technology.

COMMENCEMENT SPEAKER AND ORDER OF THE TOWER RECIPIENT

JOHN GOTTSCHALK

John Gottschalk is publisher of the Omaha World-Herald and chairman and CEO of the Omaha World-Herald Company. A key figure in the growth of the city of Omaha, he has provided leadership in the $2 billion downtown redevelopment and worked for K-12 education reform.

The son and grandson of newspapermen, Gottschalk purchased his first newspaper, the Sidney (Neb.) Telegraph, at age 24. There he spent the next decade before selling the business and joining the Omaha World-Herald.

Gottschalk became company president and the fifth publisher in the 120-year history of the Omaha World-Herald. Today, the parent company is comprised of 32 other companies with 70 print titles, plus direct marketing, communication and high tech enterprises located in eight states from New York to California. As publisher of an employee-owned flagship newspaper, the only statewide newspaper in the United States, Gottschalk is consistently a major force in setting public policy agenda and often is sought for counsel by elected and appointed officials from national, state and local institutions.

Active in the local community and beyond, he chairs the United Service Organizations World Board of Governors and the Omaha Performing Arts Society, which currently is fundraising for a new performing arts center. He also serves as national vice president of the Boy Scouts of America and chaired the organization's 2001 National Jamboree. Additionally, Gottschalk is a board member of Joslyn Art Museum, Henry Doorly Zoo, Creighton University and The Peter Kiewit Institute, and has chaired many of Omaha's largest civic organizations. In 1994, he was selected as the 98th King of Ak-Sar-Ben for his commitment to volunteerism and civic leadership.

As 30-year volunteers of the Child Saving Institute, Gottschalk and his wife, Carmen, have joined the ranks among Nebraska's generous philanthropists for providing foster care in their home to more than 100 newborn infants.

The Order of the Tower is the University of Nebraska at Omaha's highest non-academic award. It is bestowed upon community leaders whose service and/or financial support has made it possible for the university to address the academic, cultural and economic needs of the people of Omaha and the citizens of Nebraska.
