Why UNO?

There are many reasons, but here are five of the most important.

1. High-quality academic programs

Our City

UNO offers more than 200 accredited academic programs. Many have earned recognition for excellence including UNO's award-winning aviation program and the athletic training program, one of the oldest in the U.S.

Several graduate programs are ranked among the best in the nation by U.S. News & World Report:

- Information and Technology Management
- Public Finance and Budgeting
- Nonprofit Management
- City Management and Urban Policy
- Criminology
- Public Management Administration
- Master of Business Administration

For a full listing of all UNO's academic offerings, visit the Majors and Programs page.

2. Large, diverse international campus community

Last year, almost 2,000 international students attended UNO.

Regular international events - field trips, cultural fairs, games, picnics - help new students get to know each other and feel at home.

Intensive English Options

UNO's two different intensive language programs address the needs of all English-language learners:

ILUNO Intensive English

Intensive, experienced, and personalized. ILUNO is one of the oldest and largest intensive English programs in the central United States, having taught international students for 35 years.

- Students are in class 21 hours or more every week.
- Sessions last eight weeks and are scheduled six times throughout the year.
- Through a collaborative process with their instructors, new ILUNO students evaluate their English language ability and set academic goals.
- Students begin at one of six levels – beginning to advanced

- The bridge program allows students to begin undergraduate work while taking intensive English classes.
- The Advantage Track allows many students to begin undergraduate work without taking the TOEFL.

IPD English for Professionals

International Professional Development delivers short-term, intensive training in English language and communications skills – all in a business context.

Since 1989, professionals from around the world have come to IPD to gain a competitive edge in an increasingly interconnected global marketplace.

- They attend seminars in business and intercultural communications.
- They improve their English ability and increase their knowledge of global business practices.
- They also develop their professional networks while becoming immersed in Omaha's international business community.

Campus Employment

UNO depends on student employees to augment its employment ranks. Approximately 29% of on-campus employees are student workers and work-study student workers.

While finances are the primary reason for working, other reasons motivating students to work include: enjoyment, social interaction, career exploration, and time management.

Students seeking work experience on-campus during school can gain assistance through Student Employment Services.
