A Brief Overview of BIBFRAME

Angela Kroeger

What is BIBFRAME?

- Data model for resource description
- Linked data (RDF)
- Not based on RDA or FRBR, but compatible with them (mostly)
- A work-in-progress

Access available handouts at alamw15.ala.org/sessions/handouts

What's it supposed to do?

- Breaks apart the bib record
- Resources described with an assembly of linked metadata pieces
- Relationships between the metadata resources draw them together

Access available handouts at alamw15.ala.org/sessions/handouts

PCC BIBFRAME Survey Analysis

- BIBFRAME is not a MARC enhancement
- BIBFRAME is a MARC replacement
- BIBFRAME is not a new computer system, next-gen OPAC, or ILS
- BIBFRAME is a "collection of tools and templates for use by catalogers and system designers"

Access available handouts at alaw15.ala.org/sessions/handouts

Tools Available from Library of Congress

- MARC-to-BIBFRAME Comparison
- MARC-to-BIBFRAME Transformation
- BIBFRAME Editor

Access available handouts at alamw15.ala.org/sessions/handouts

Tools Anticipated Soon

- Search and Display
- Profile Creation and Editing

Access available handouts at alamw15.ala.org/sessions/handouts

Why?

- MARC is stringy, difficult for machines to interpret
- RDA and FRBR are designed for a linked data environment

Access available handouts at alamw15.ala.org/sessions/handouts

Yeah, but why?

BIBFRAME Core Classes

- Work
- Instance
- Authority
- Annotation

Access available handouts at alamw15.ala.org/sessions/handouts

BIBFRAME Work

- FRBR Work + FRBR Expression
- Abstract
- Properties apply to all editions and formats

Access available handouts at alamw15.ala.org/sessions/handouts

BIBFRAME Instance

- FRBR Manifestation
- Concrete
- Properties specific to one edition and format

BIBFRAME Authority

- Agent, place, temporal, or topic
- "Lightweight Abstraction Layer"
 - Local authority layer
 - Able to link to controlled vocabularies from many sources
 - Home for new URIs for authority concepts not represented in other sources

Access available handouts at alam15.ala.org/sessions/handouts

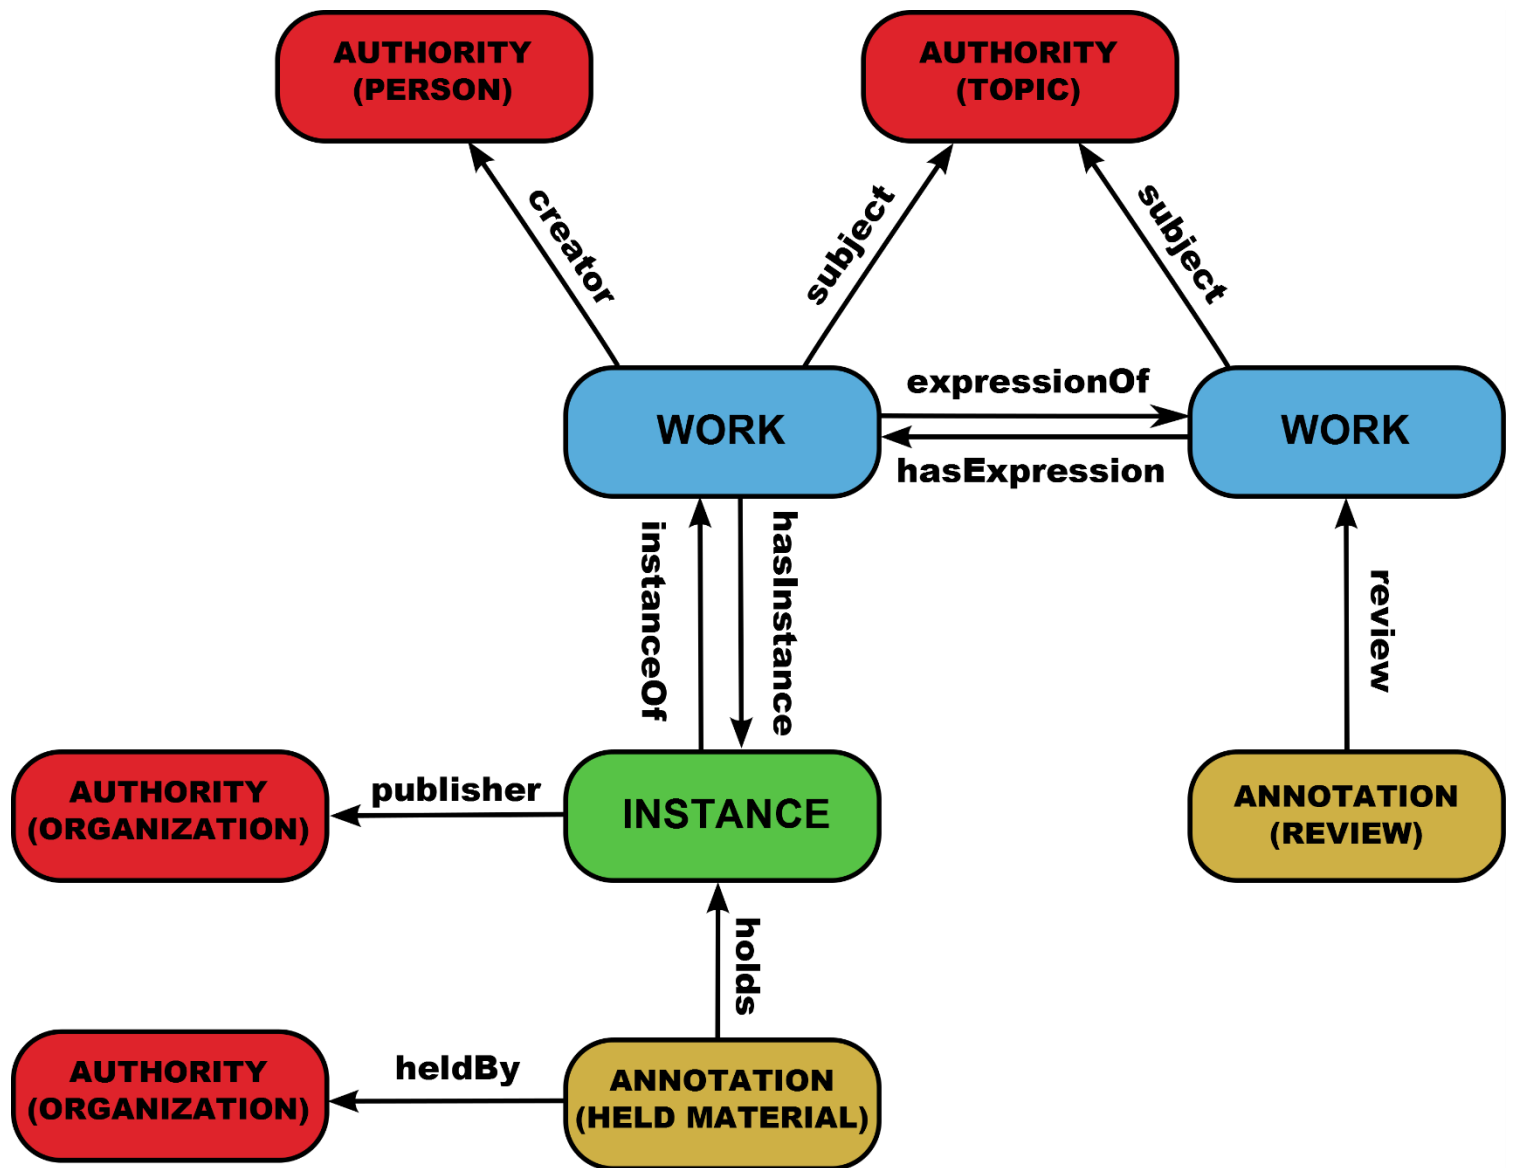

BIBFRAME Annotation

- FRBR Item, among other things
- Summaries, reviews, holdings information, etc.

Access available handouts at alamw15.ala.org/sessions/handouts

BIBFRAME Model

Access available handouts at alamw15.ala.org/sessions/handouts

Two Editors, Two Very Different Approaches

- BIBFRAME Editor (Library of Congress)
 - Detailed workflow
 - Geared toward trained catalogers
- BIBFRAME Scribe (Zepheira)
 - Simplified workflow
 - Usable by non-catalogers

Access available handouts at alamw15.ala.org/sessions/handouts

BIBFRAME vs. RDA/FRBR

- 2-entity model doesn't align with FRBR
- "Work" means different things to different communities
- FRBR not optimal for audiovisual resources
- FRBR not optimal for serials
- BIBFRAME relationships are more extensible and flexible

Access available handouts at alamw15.ala.org/sessions/handouts

BIBFRAME and Schema.org

- OCLC and W3C Schema Bib Extend Community Group's Schema.org extension vocabulary evolved into BiblioGraph.net
- Working toward one another
- BIBFRAME for description, curation, and data exchange
- Schema.org for discovery via common search engines

Access available handouts at alamw15.ala.org/sessions/handouts

Libhub Initiative

- <http://www.libhub.org/>
- Zepheira's new BIBFRAME project
- To publish BIBFRAME resources on the open web
- To track visibility in search engines
- Libhub Network anticipated in summer 2015

Access available handouts at alamw15.ala.org/sessions/handouts
