Dear Faculty in the College of Engineering and Applied Sciences:

In an effort to increase the visibility of your scholarship, maximize its research impact, and contribute to worldwide accessibility, the UW Libraries are proud to announce their recent initiative, the Wyoming Scholars Repository (WySR). WySR is an open access institutional repository highlighting scholarship at the University of Wyoming. You can view WySR at <http://repository.uwyo.edu>

Content housed in WySR consists of a variety of scholarly works, including published articles, associated gray matter, professional grade peer-review electronic journals, and conference platforms with papers.

There are many benefits to having your work archived in the Wyoming Scholars Repository:

- Maximize discoverability - This platform is optimized for visibility through Google, Google Scholar, and other search engines, resulting in your scholarship being highly visible and easily discoverable by your students and colleagues here at University of Wyoming and by other scholars around the world.
- Maximize dissemination – Research shows that online open access articles are the most frequently viewed, downloaded and cited publications.
- Satisfy federal funding requirements for open access - Archive publications in our institutional repository and make your results publicly available.
- Persistent URLs - Each full-text article is assigned a URL that may be easily shared.
- Usage feedback reports – Statistics are emailed to you monthly, showing metrics on how often each of your posted documents has been downloaded.

The Library is pleased to offer the Wyoming Scholars Repository initiative to highlight scholarship at our University. We plan to visit departments within the College of Engineering and Applied Science during the spring 2015 semester to provide further information and assistance.

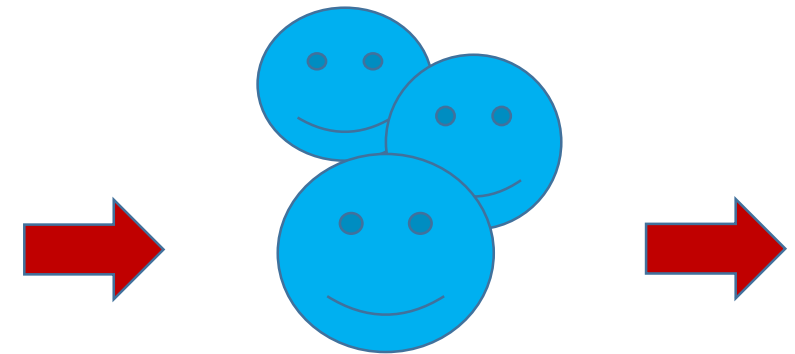

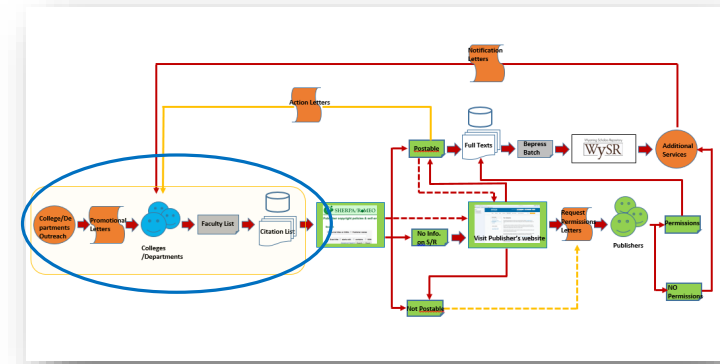

Please feel free to contact us with any questions.

Permissions

Did you know that permission is required to reuse any content published by Emerald (of which Emerald is the copyright holder)?

How can I clear permission?

Emerald's permission service is delivered through the Copyright Clearance Center's Rights Link® online system. This service provides a highly efficient, real time service to clear copyright permission for the lawful re-use, distribution or republication of Emerald's copyright materials.

The quick way to clear permissions:

1. Locate the abstract of the content you wish to reuse in the Emerald database
2. Click on the 'Reprints and Permissions' link on the abstract page
3. Select the rights required (following the online instructions)
4. Receive an immediate, no-obligations quote by clicking 'Quick price'
5. If you wish to proceed, click 'continue' (you will be asked to set up a RightsLink® account to pay online)
6. Read and accept Emerald's Terms & Conditions and receive immediate permission.

Please note: if Emerald does not hold the copyright of an article, the link will not appear. For permission to use this content, you will need to contact the copyright holder directly.

Obtaining a copy of an article or chapter

If you wish to view Emerald content, but do not have a subscription, you may use our pay-per-view service:

1. Find the abstract page of the article or chapter you wish to purchase on www.emeraldright.com
2. Click on 'Purchase this article'. All chapters and articles are available for $32 USD + Tax, if applicable
3. Please note that any copy purchased is for your own private use. If you wish to make photocopies of the article, you must purchase a licence through our RightsLink® service.

Alternatively, why not speak to your librarian who may be able to obtain a copy via Interlibrary Loan?

Emerald participates in the following 'Express InterLibrary Loan Schemes':

- Copyright Clearance Center's Get It-Now service
- Reprint desk's A-Z Academic Document Delivery Collection

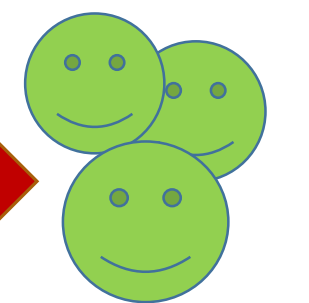

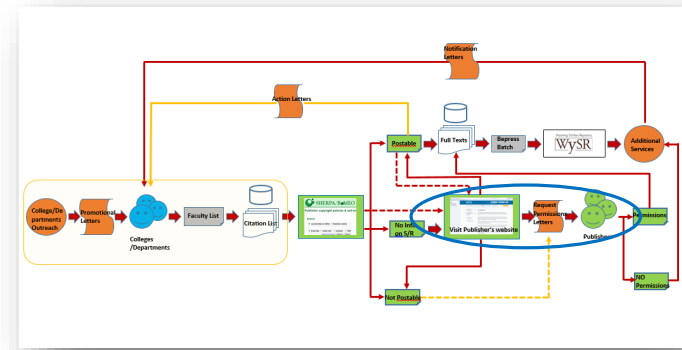

- ✓ Pre-Print

Dear Kelly,

I'm happy to provide you with a text-recognized PDF of Professor Robert's COLUMBIA article in Vol 1 No. 1. I must caution you, however, about the illustrations in the article. Permission was never obtained for digital reproduction. It may well be that the images are now in the public domain, but I'm not 100 percent certain of that.

Regards,

Dear Professor _____

In an effort to increase the visibility of your scholarship, maximize its research impact, and contribute to worldwide accessibility, the UW Libraries are proud to announce their recent initiative, the Wyoming Scholars Repository (WySR). WySR is an open access institutional repository highlighting scholarship at the University of Wyoming. You can view WySR at <http://repository.uwyo.edu>

We recently identified your published articles eligible for posting in the repository, and we would like to add the eligible material to WySR for you. What do you need to do if you would like this material posted in the IR? ABSOLUTELY NOTHING! We will do all the work to make your scholarship accessible to a global audience, including contacting the publishers on your behalf to obtain permission, and adding the already eligible material listed below to WySR. You can view WySR at: <http://repository.uwyo.edu/>

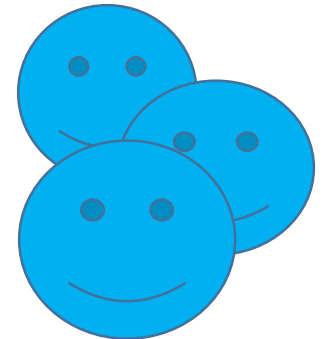

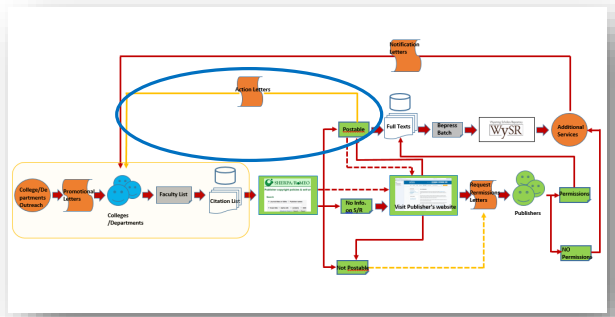

[Customized to the individual faculty member — list of their articles available for ingest into WySR]

- There are many benefits to having your work archived in the Wyoming Scholars Repository:
- Maximize discoverability - This platform is optimized for visibility through Google, Google Scholar, and other search engines, resulting in your scholarship being highly visible and easily discoverable by your students and colleagues here at University of Wyoming and by other scholars around the world.
 - Maximize dissemination - Research shows that online open access articles are the most frequently viewed, downloaded and cited publications.
 - Satisfy federal funding requirements for open access - Archive publications in our institutional repository and make your results publicly available.
 - Persistent URLs - Each full-text article is assigned a URL that may be easily shared.
 - Usage feedback reports - Statistics are emailed to you monthly, showing metrics on how often each of your posted documents has been downloaded.

Please send an e-mail to lvinsnak@uwyo.edu by February 26, if you prefer that we not post this material in the repository.

The Library is pleased to offer the Wyoming Scholars Repository initiative to highlight scholarship at our University. We are available to schedule a personal meetings or to come to your department at your convenience to provide additional information on these benefits or on the creation your personal SelectedWorks page, http://repository.uwyo.edu/sw_gallery.html. A campus wide SelectedWorks Workshop is scheduled for March 5th (4:00pm in Coe 218) to help you create your own individual faculty research page. In addition, the libraries are offering other workshops that might be of interest <http://libguides.uwyo.edu/libraryinstruction/workshops>.
