Indispensable Solutions:
INCREASE OF EXPORT AND IMPORT INCOMES OF DEVELOPING COUNTRIES

Part II
Integration and national group problems are the key factors in the development of the economy in the modern world. Whether under a form of central planning or a market economy, the solution of the problems of integration and national group will have to be the guiding principle of the economic development of any country. The article on integration and national group problems, which was published in the February issue of the KABUL TIMES, dealt mainly with the economic aspects of the problem. In this issue, we will continue our discussion with a focus on the social and cultural aspects.

The problems of integration and national group are closely related to the development of the economy. The economic development of a country is dependent on the degree of integration and national group. The more integrated and national the group, the more likely the country will achieve its economic goals.

Social and Cultural Aspects
In order to increase integration and national group, it is essential to involve all segments of society. This involves not only the economic aspects but also the social and cultural aspects. The development of cultural activities, such as music, art, and literature, can help to foster a sense of national identity and enhance integration.

Cultural exchanges with other countries can also be beneficial. By sharing cultural activities, countries can learn from each other and develop a greater appreciation for diversity.

The Role of Education
Education is a powerful tool in the development of integration and national group. By providing education, individuals can acquire knowledge and skills that will enable them to contribute to the economic development of the country.

In conclusion, the problems of integration and national group are crucial for the development of the economy. A strong national identity and a sense of community are essential for achieving economic success. By focusing on both the economic and social aspects of integration and national group, countries can create a more prosperous and stable environment.

The Importance of Education
Education is a crucial factor in the development of integration and national group. By providing education, individuals can acquire knowledge and skills that will enable them to contribute to the economic development of the country.

Faculty of Engineering, University of Kabul

The importance of education cannot be overstated, especially in an era where technological advancements are changing the landscape of the world. In Afghanistan, education is considered a top priority, and the government has made significant efforts to improve the quality of education across the country.

In the past, Afghanistan lacked a stable educational system due to the civil war and instability. However, with the implementation of the Paris Peace Agreement in 2020, there has been a surge in efforts to ensure education for all.

The Ministry of Education is responsible for the education system in Afghanistan, and it has set several goals to improve the quality of education. These include increasing enrollment rates, improving educational infrastructure, and providing quality education.

In recent years, there has been a focus on improving the quality of education, especially in higher education. The government has established several institutions of higher education, including the Kabul University, which is the oldest university in Afghanistan.

Despite these efforts, there are still challenges. The country is still recovering from decades of war, and the educational system is in the process of rebuilding. However, the future looks promising, and there is a strong commitment to ensuring that education is accessible to all Afghans.

Despite these achievements, there is still a long way to go. Afghanistan faces numerous challenges, including political instability, security concerns, and economic difficulties. However, the progress made so far is a testament to the determination of the Afghan people.

Afghanistan is a land of diversity, with a rich cultural heritage. The country has a rich history, and its people have a long-standing tradition of hospitality. The Afghan people are known for their kindness and generosity, and they welcome visitors with open arms.

In conclusion, Afghanistan is making progress, and the future looks promising. The country is on the right track, and with continued effort and dedication, it will undoubtedly achieve its goals.

THE INFLUENCE OF PAKHTUN IN THE INSCRIPTIONS DISCOVERED AT SURKH-KOTAL IN BAGHLAN

By A. H. Mahdi

The inscription which is the focus of this article is located in the Takht-i-Bahman area of Bagram, near the modern city of Baghlan, Afghanistan. The inscription is known as the "Kalah" inscription because it was found on the side of a hill, or "kalah," which is a common term in the region. The inscription is inscribed in the Old Persian language and contains a variety of inscriptions, including those of the Old Persian king Hystaspes, who ruled in the 5th century BC.

The inscription is also notable for its use of the Old Persian script, which is not commonly found in the region. It is believed that the inscription was written by the king Hystaspes, who ruled in the 5th century BC, during the Persian Empire.

This inscription is an important example of the influence of Pakhtun culture on the region. The Pakhtun people have a long history in the region, and their culture has had a significant impact on the region's development.

A Problem Of Administration

By: R. YUNUSAV

"Of all men who distinguish themselves in government, no one in all my time has shown more lack of understanding of what government should be, more lack of judgment in what to do, and more lack of wisdom, none has ever been such a disgrace to his country and to his people as the President of the United States." This is not the opinion of an ordinary politician, but of a former President of the United States, Lyndon B. Johnson. In his book, "The Language of Power," he expresses his thoughts on the nature of administration and its role in society.

UNITED NATIONS, May 30, (AP)—Ghana yesterday claimed it was operating a total trade and diplomatic boycott of South Africa on the “recommendation” of which, she claimed, she was proved by Ghana’s trade statistics.

The West African state sent a note to Secretary-General Thant, stating: “At the United Nations and at other international organizations, Ghana has played a leading role in opposing the policies of your Organization against the African Government.”

UNITED NATIONS, May 30, (AP)—Soviet Ambassador Nikolai Fedorenko conferred on Wednesday with Secretary-General Thant on the situation in Yemen, where the United Nations plans to put a 200-man peace observance force there.

Thant issued a report to the Security Council on Tuesday saying an “ideological” party could be there “within a few days,” a U.N. spokesman said. Thant has made no decision on the subject yet, the spokesman said.

Thant conferred separately also with Ambassador Mahmoud Badawi of the United Arab Republic and Ambassador Istibshoody of Saudi Arabia. The two Arab states are funneling to to share part of the cost of the U.N. mission. The cost will be estimated at one million dollars.

Reports persisted that the Soviet Union had asked the Security Council session on Yemen.

Aden Nationalists Leaders Determined To Merge Their Territory With Yemen

DAMASCUS, Syria, May 30, (AP)—Aden’s Nationalists Leaders Wednesday told a visiting United Nations Sub-committee they were determined to merge their British protectorate with the Republic of Yemen.

San’s Radio, monitored here, said the Aden Nationalist leaders told the committee there was no hope of a peaceful Union with Britain. It quoted them as saying people in Aden find no other alternative than to come to arms to realize their national aspiration in union.

The Leaders also demanded U.N. support for self-determination in Aden. The Radio added that the Aden Nationalists sought U.N. intervention to “secure public opinion on both sides of the frontier.”

The Radio said these demands made by Mr. Abdul Salam, Leader of the Social People’s Party and Secretary General of its Trade Union Congress, and several tribal delegations included Sheikh Ahmad Al Sabbak.

They were testifying before a five-man Fact-Finding Sub-committee, of United Nations Special Committee on Colonials, to examine the situation in Aden.

The group was denied entry into Aden and the British-protected South Arabian Federation. It arrived in Aden’s Tuesday night after a two-day visit to Cairo.

As the sub-committee went into conference with Aden representatives, Yemeni students paraded through San’s streets shouting support for the United Arab Federation of Yemen with the Yemeni, the radio said.

The students said that when the Aden delegation reached the conference building, Al Amir appeared on a balcony and spoke of his party’s adherence to the Abha, people for merging with Yemen which soon will become member of the Federation of U.A.R., Syria and Iran.

Al Amir was quoted further as saying the sub-committee should British authorities have recently rejected the idea of union of Yemen with Aden.
