U.K. Sets Military Command Againsts

Brunei Rebels

PARIS, Dec. 18 (AP)—A new military command has been established in Brunei to counter the activities of a guerrilla group that is engaged in a revolutionary war against the government. The command will be headed by a British general and will have control over all military units in Brunei.

General staff for the command, which is expected to be formally announced tomorrow, will be placed under the control of the British government in London.

The new organization will have the following members:

- General Staff
- Commanding General
- Assistant Commanding General
- Operations
- Intelligence
- Logistics
- Personnel
- Finance
- Public Relations
- Special Services

The command will be responsible for all military operations in Brunei, including training, intelligence gathering, and strategic planning.

The establishment of the command is a response to the increased threat posed by the guerrilla group, which has been active in Brunei for several years.
