17 Killed In Congolese Fighting: Adoula Calls U.N. Troops To Help

LEOPOLDVILLE, March 28. (AP) - Three people were killed today in a shooting spree by two unknown men in Leopoldville. The shooting began when the gunmen entered a house at night.

The shooting was carried out by two men in a car. The gunmen opened fire on the occupants of the house, killing three people. The victims were reportedly members of a Congolese political party.

The shooting was described as a "criminal act", and the local police were called to investigate.

The gunmen fled the scene of the shooting and are still at large.

It is not clear whether the shooting was politically motivated, as Congolese political parties are known to be involved in incidents of violence.

The shooting was the latest in a series of violent incidents in the country, which has been experiencing political instability and social unrest.

The killings came just days after the recent assassination of a pro-government politician, which sparked widespread protests across the country.

The government has warned that it will not tolerate acts of violence, and has called on the authorities to take immediate action to investigate the killings and bring the perpetrators to justice.

The government has also urged the international community to support its efforts to maintain peace and stability in the country.

The United Nations has expressed concern over the latest incidents and has urged the Congolese authorities to ensure the safety and security of all citizens.
