6-18-1963

Kabul Times (June 18, 1963, vol. 2, no. 91)

Bakhtar News Agency

Follow this and additional works at: https://digitalcommons.unomaha.edu/kabultimes

Part of the International and Area Studies Commons

Recommended Citation
https://digitalcommons.unomaha.edu/kabultimes/370
How Fire Destroyed
115 Houses In Small Mountain Town Of Kaja?

JALALABAD, June 11—The small town of Kaja, situated at an altitude of 4,000 feet near-east of Kabul, suffered heavy loss of property due to the conflagration which took place on June 10. 115 houses and 10 shops were gutted.

Mr. Abdul Karim Khan, the Commission of Health, and Mr. Ghalib Haroon, the Vickers engineer of the Government of Afghanistan, visited the scene of the conflagration and gave the necessary instructions.

Tass Denies British
Paper's Charges

MOSCOW, June 11—The British newspaper which has been publishing a series of reports about the Caucasus, has been denied by Tass.

The report states that Mr. M. B. Vale, a member of the British House of Commons, has been asked to visit the Caucasus by the authorities of the Soviet Union.

This report has been denied by Tass, which has said that the British newspaper has been publishing a series of reports about the Caucasus.

New Local Govt.
In Chakh-i-Wardak

KABUL, June 11—A new local government was established in Chakh-i-Wardak Province, which will be under the control of the Ministry of Interior.

The appointment of the new local government was made by the Ministry of Interior, which has said that the appointment is in the interest of the people of Chakh-i-Wardak.

Local government has been established in Chakh-i-Wardak Province, which will be under the control of the Ministry of Interior.
Can Attitudes Be Changed Quickly?

By R. YEVNOV

The language PRESS

At a Glance

In an editorial the presidential review agency in Kabul notes that in recent years, as a result of the economic and political developments, there has been a noticeable change in the general attitude of people. This change is reflected in their daily lives, in their home life, in their work, in their social activities. It is a change that has been brought about by the efforts of the government and the people themselves.

This change is not only in the attitudes of individuals, but also in the attitudes of institutions and organizations. It is a change that is seen in the way people interact with each other, in the way they carry out their responsibilities, in the way they fulfill their duties.

The government has played a key role in bringing about this change. It has implemented policies that have improved the lives of people, provided them with opportunities to develop their skills, and given them the tools they need to succeed.

The people themselves have also played a role in this change. They have worked hard to improve their own lives, to make their communities better places to live.

This change has been accompanied by a change in the way people think about the world around them. They are more aware of the need to work together, to cooperate with each other, to build a better future for all.

The government continues to work towards this goal. It is committed to continuing to improve the lives of its people, to provide them with the tools they need to succeed, to create a better future for all.