KABUL, Tuesday, July 28 - The Prime Minister, Mr. Brinzei, today opened the 1963 students' art show at the National Museum.

The art show, which is held annually, features paintings, sculptures, and other works created by Afghan students. This year's show includes works by students from all regions of Afghanistan.

Prime Minister Brinzei said: "The art show is an important part of our national culture and provides a platform for young talent. I encourage all students to continue to express their creativity and to contribute to the development of our country."
The language of Work is a shared understanding that is essential for effective communication. It is used in various contexts such as in the workplace, in schools, and in social settings. The nature of Work is complex and involves a variety of tasks and responsibilities. It is a process that involves the use of skills and knowledge to create goods or services. The labor movement has played a significant role in the development of the language of Work. The labor movement is a social movement that advocates for better working conditions, fair wages, and social justice for workers. It has been instrumental in the development of the language of Work, as it has helped to shape the laws and policies that govern the relationship between employers and employees. The language of Work is constantly evolving as new technologies and industries emerge. It is important for workers to keep up with these changes to remain competitive and to ensure that their rights are protected.
DE GAULLE REJECTS NON-AGGRESSION PACT IN EUROPE

French Leader Refuses To Join Test Ban Accord

PARIS, Tuesday, July 29—Charles de Gaulle rejected any European non-aggression pact as proposed by the Council of Europe. In a speech to the French Senate yesterday, the 73-year-old President told a special session that France is not prepared to join any such agreements. "We must not renounce our independence," he said.

The President has been under pressure from Western leaders to join the test ban agreement. According to reports, a group of 13 French senators recently appealed to the President to sign the pact.

LONG TIME NEEDED FOR CHINA TO HAVE NUCLEAR POWER OF IMPORTANCE

HARRIMAN QUOTES KRUSHCHOV

WASHINGTON, July 28—The United States Secretary of State, Dean Rusk, has quoted Premier Nikita Khrushchev as saying that it will take China at least 100 years to achieve nuclear power of importance.

The statement comes as a response to President Johnson's call for a moratorium on nuclear weapons testing. Rusk said that Khrushchev had made the statement during a recent visit to China.

The moratorium proposal has been welcomed by many nations, but China has not yet expressed its position on the issue.
