Soviet Union Respects Afghanistan's Policy Of Neutrality/Disclaims Communiqué

The Moscow-based foreign ministry in its statement on Saturday, January 19, 1985, has disclaimed a communiqué reportedly published in Kabul and attributed to Afghanistan's foreign ministry.

At a Moscow news conference on Saturday, the ministry speaking for Afghanistan's foreign ministry had accused the Soviet Union of making "malignant provocations" in the affairs of Afghanistan.

In response, a Soviet spokesman said that "the Afghan government has not appealed to the Soviet Union to declare their neutrality. The Soviet Union has never had such a policy. It is a non-aligned state in good standing with the United Nations and naturally accepts all statements of non-interference for Afghanistan in the context of the Afghan national revolution."

The spokesman also said that "Formation of the government headed by Dr. Burhanuddin Rabbani and the present government are in full accordance with the constitutional principles of Afghanistan."

The spokesman added that "since the beginning of the Afghan revolution, the government has been committed to the neutralist and friendly policies. The Afghan government feels the necessity of maintaining good relations with all countries, especially with the Soviet Union because of its geographical proximity.

Contrary to what has been written in the communiqué, the Afghan government has never made any claim to the Soviet Union for recognition and has never asked for any economic aid from the Soviet Union.

The Afghan government has always expressed its readiness to cooperate with all countries, including the Soviet Union, on the basis of the principles of equality, non-aggression, and non-interference.

The spokesman concluded that "the Afghan government is committed to the principles of non-interference and non-aggression, and is always ready to work for peace and stability in the region."

The Soviet spokesman reaffirmed the policy of the Soviet Union to respect the sovereignty and territorial integrity of Afghanistan and to support the Afghan government in its efforts to achieve national unity and stability.

He added that "the Soviet Union is committed to the principles of neutrality and non-interference in the affairs of other countries, and will continue to support the Afghan government in its efforts to achieve national reconciliation and unity."
