McNamara Urges French Take Part In Talks On Ways To Broaden NATO Participation

U.S. Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara said Sunday that France should take part in the upcoming nuclear disarmament talks in Paris that the United States hopes to be attended by representatives from all of Europe's nuclear powers. "All of Europe should be present," McNamara said.

The four-nation talks, in which the United States, Britain, France and West Germany will seek to define a "critical role" for nuclear weapons in Europe's security, were called for May 5 by French Foreign Minister Jean-Pierre Raphaëls. McNamara said his government hopes to be represented at the talks by Ambassador Robert S. Conze, his number two at the State Department.
