RESULTS OF FIRST PLAN: GOALS OF THE SECOND

Sardar Daoud's Analysis

PART III

It must be concluded that the first Plan was carried out to the letter. Both the Social and Cultural Plan and the Agricultural Development Plan were completed successfully. The first Plan also laid the foundation for the Second Plan by preparing the country for the future. The Second Plan will build on the achievements of the first Plan and will lead the country to economic and social progress.

The economic progress of the first Plan was significant. The national income increased by 10% per annum, and the industrial output increased by 15% per annum. The agricultural output also increased by 10% per annum. The literacy rate increased from 15% to 20%, and the life expectancy increased from 50 to 55 years. The Second Plan will build on these achievements and will aim to achieve even greater economic and social progress.

The Second Plan will focus on the following areas:

Agricultural Development

The Second Plan will focus on agricultural development. The country will be divided into agricultural zones based on the climate and soil conditions. Each zone will be assigned a specific crop to be cultivated. The government will provide the necessary infrastructure, such as irrigation systems and roads, to support agricultural development. The government will also provide technical assistance to farmers to improve their crop yields.

Industrial Development

The Second Plan will also focus on industrial development. The government will establish new factories and expand existing ones. The government will provide the necessary infrastructure, such as transportation and energy systems, to support industrial development. The government will also provide technical assistance to entrepreneurs to improve their production processes.

Social Development

The Second Plan will also focus on social development. The government will establish new schools and expand existing ones. The government will provide the necessary infrastructure, such as transportation and energy systems, to support social development. The government will also provide technical assistance to educators to improve their teaching methods.

In conclusion, the Second Plan will build on the achievements of the first Plan and will aim to achieve even greater economic and social progress. The plan will focus on agricultural development, industrial development, and social development to ensure that the country progresses towards a more prosperous and stable future.

NEW YORK, Apr. 18. (U.S.R.)—The United Nations Economic and Social Council yesterday approved an American-sponsored resolution recommending that a $100 million world food programme be undertaken in cooperation with the United Nations.

Under the programme, supplies of food will be distributed to war-torn areas, including refugees in the Near East, Europe, and Malaya. A shorter time line will be followed in the Near East, where the need is most acute.

The programme was proposed by Adenauer and the United States, and approved by the council in New York yesterday. Mr. Molotoff, director of the United Nations Food and Agriculture Organization, announced that the council had decided to undertake the programme on a scale that would amount to 100 million dollars.

"The programme will be carried out under the supervision of the United Nations Food and Agriculture Organization, which has proved its ability to administer food aid programs on a large scale," Mr. Molotoff said. "The council's decision was made in consultation with the governments of the countries concerned, and will be carried out in cooperation with the United Nations Relief and Rehabilitation Administration, which has been active in the Near East during the past year."

President Truman today announced that the United States would contribute $50 million to the programme and would provide the necessary administrative and technical assistance.

U.S.A. Reluctant to Spread N.A.R.M.S.

WASHINGTON, Apr. 18. (U.S.R.)—The Department of Agriculture today announced that it will not participate in the proposed National Agriculture and Rural Modernization System (N.A.R.M.S.).

The system, which was proposed by Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Benson, was designed to provide a more rational and efficient approach to agricultural planning and development.

"We are not convinced that N.A.R.M.S. will be effective in achieving its goals," said Mr. Benson. "We believe that the existing programs and agencies are more capable of handling the problem."

The department's statement also noted that the costs of implementing N.A.R.M.S. would be prohibitive and that the system would be difficult to administer.

Burgers Hill High treason

From the Front Page

"High treason is a crime against the state, and it is the duty of all citizens to report any suspicious activity to the authorities." - President Truman

The secretary of state today announced that the United States government had broken up a plot to assassinate President Truman. The plot was uncovered by the FBI, which had been investigating the case for several months.

French Detente and the Future

PARIS, Apr. 21. (U.S.R.)—France today announced that it will not participate in the proposed French-German economic union. The French government has been under pressure from the United States and other countries to join the union, but France has steadfastly refused to do so.

"We have serious reservations about the proposed union," said Mr. Mitterand, the French prime minister. "We believe that it would be in the best interests of France to maintain its own identity and to pursue its own economic policies."
