Kennedy Expresses Concern Over Situation In Taiwan Strait

WASHINGTON, June 21—(AP)—President Kennedy yesterday that the situation in the Taiwan Strait was a matter of concern, and said he would consider the defense of Formosa and the United Nations Islands if attacked. "There is a situation in the Taiwan area which I consider is not of our concern," the President said. "The United States would not consider the defense of Formosa and the United Nations Islands if attacked."

Kennedy also expressed concern over the situation in the Middle East, and said he would consider the defense of Formosa and the United Nations Islands if attacked. "There is a situation in the Taiwan area which I consider is not of our concern," the President said. "The United States would not consider the defense of Formosa and the United Nations Islands if attacked."

The President said that the United States would not consider the defense of Formosa and the United Nations Islands if attacked. "There is a situation in the Taiwan area which I consider is not of our concern," the President said. "The United States would not consider the defense of Formosa and the United Nations Islands if attacked."

The President said that the United States would not consider the defense of Formosa and the United Nations Islands if attacked. "There is a situation in the Taiwan area which I consider is not of our concern," the President said. "The United States would not consider the defense of Formosa and the United Nations Islands if attacked."

The President said that the United States would not consider the defense of Formosa and the United Nations Islands if attacked. "There is a situation in the Taiwan area which I consider is not of our concern," the President said. "The United States would not consider the defense of Formosa and the United Nations Islands if attacked."

The President said that the United States would not consider the defense of Formosa and the United Nations Islands if attacked. "There is a situation in the Taiwan area which I consider is not of our concern," the President said. "The United States would not consider the defense of Formosa and the United Nations Islands if attacked."

The President said that the United States would not consider the defense of Formosa and the United Nations Islands if attacked. "There is a situation in the Taiwan area which I consider is not of our concern," the President said. "The United States would not consider the defense of Formosa and the United Nations Islands if attacked."

The President said that the United States would not consider the defense of Formosa and the United Nations Islands if attacked. "There is a situation in the Taiwan area which I consider is not of our concern," the President said. "The United States would not consider the defense of Formosa and the United Nations Islands if attacked."

The President said that the United States would not consider the defense of Formosa and the United Nations Islands if attacked. "There is a situation in the Taiwan area which I consider is not of our concern," the President said. "The United States would not consider the defense of Formosa and the United Nations Islands if attacked."

The President said that the United States would not consider the defense of Formosa and the United Nations Islands if attacked. "There is a situation in the Taiwan area which I consider is not of our concern," the President said. "The United States would not consider the defense of Formosa and the United Nations Islands if attacked."

The President said that the United States would not consider the defense of Formosa and the United Nations Islands if attacked. "There is a situation in the Taiwan area which I consider is not of our concern," the President said. "The United States would not consider the defense of Formosa and the United Nations Islands if attacked."

The President said that the United States would not consider the defense of Formosa and the United Nations Islands if attacked. "There is a situation in the Taiwan area which I consider is not of our concern," the President said. "The United States would not consider the defense of Formosa and the United Nations Islands if attacked."

The President said that the United States would not consider the defense of Formosa and the United Nations Islands if attacked. "There is a situation in the Taiwan area which I consider is not of our concern," the President said. "The United States would not consider the defense of Formosa and the United Nations Islands if attacked."

The President said that the United States would not consider the defense of Formosa and the United Nations Islands if attacked. "There is a situation in the Taiwan area which I consider is not of our concern," the President said. "The United States would not consider the defense of Formosa and the United Nations Islands if attacked."

The President said that the United States would not consider the defense of Formosa and the United Nations Islands if attacked. "There is a situation in the Taiwan area which I consider is not of our concern," the President said. "The United States would not consider the defense of Formosa and the United Nations Islands if attacked."

The President said that the United States would not consider the defense of Formosa and the United Nations Islands if attacked. "There is a situation in the Taiwan area which I consider is not of our concern," the President said. "The United States would not consider the defense of Formosa and the United Nations Islands if attacked."

The President said that the United States would not consider the defense of Formosa and the United Nations Islands if attacked. "There is a situation in the Taiwan area which I consider is not of our concern," the President said. "The United States would not consider the defense of Formosa and the United Nations Islands if attacked."

The President said that the United States would not consider the defense of Formosa and the United Nations Islands if attacked. "There is a situation in the Taiwan area which I consider is not of our concern," the President said. "The United States would not consider the defense of Formosa and the United Nations Islands if attacked."

The President said that the United States would not consider the defense of Formosa and the United Nations Islands if attacked. "There is a situation in the Taiwan area which I consider is not of our concern," the President said. "The United States would not consider the defense of Formosa and the United Nations Islands if attacked."

The President said that the United States would not consider the defense of Formosa and the United Nations Islands if attacked. "There is a situation in the Taiwan area which I consider is not of our concern," the President said. "The United States would not consider the defense of Formosa and the United Nations Islands if attacked."

The President said that the United States would not consider the defense of Formosa and the United Nations Islands if attacked. "There is a situation in the Taiwan area which I consider is not of our concern," the President said. "The United States would not consider the defense of Formosa and the United Nations Islands if attacked."

The President said that the United States would not consider the defense of Formosa and the United Nations Islands if attacked. "There is a situation in the Taiwan area which I consider is not of our concern," the President said. "The United States would not consider the defense of Formosa and the United Nations Islands if attacked."

The President said that the United States would not consider the defense of Formosa and the United Nations Islands if attacked. "There is a situation in the Taiwan area which I consider is not of our concern," the President said. "The United States would not consider the defense of Formosa and the United Nations Islands if attacked."

The President said that the United States would not consider the defense of Formosa and the United Nations Islands if attacked. "There is a situation in the Taiwan area which I consider is not of our concern," the President said. "The United States would not consider the defense of Formosa and the United Nations Islands if attacked."

The President said that the United States would not consider the defense of Formosa and the United Nations Islands if attacked. "There is a situation in the Taiwan area which I consider is not of our concern," the President said. "The United States would not consider the defense of Formosa and the United Nations Islands if attacked."

The President said that the United States would not consider the defense of Formosa and the United Nations Islands if attacked. "There is a situation in the Taiwan area which I consider is not of our concern," the President said. "The United States would not consider the defense of Formosa and the United Nations Islands if attacked."

The President said that the United States would not consider the defense of Formosa and the United Nations Islands if attacked. "There is a situation in the Taiwan area which I consider is not of our concern," the President said. "The United States would not consider the defense of Formosa and the United Nations Islands if attacked."

The President said that the United States would not consider the defense of Formosa and the United Nations Islands if attacked. "There is a situation in the Taiwan area which I consider is not of our concern," the President said. "The United States would not consider the defense of Formosa and the United Nations Islands if attacked."

The President said that the United States would not consider the defense of Formosa and the United Nations Islands if attacked. "There is a situation in the Taiwan area which I consider is not of our concern," the President said. "The United States would not consider the defense of Formosa and the United Nations Islands if attacked."

The President said that the United States would not consider the defense of Formosa and the United Nations Islands if attacked. "There is a situation in the Taiwan area which I consider is not of our concern," the President said. "The United States would not consider the defense of Formosa and the United Nations Islands if attacked."

The President said that the United States would not consider the defense of Formosa and the United Nations Islands if attacked. "There is a situation in the Taiwan area which I consider is not of our concern," the President said. "The United States would not consider the defense of Formosa and the United Nations Islands if attacked."

The President said that the United States would not consider the defense of Formosa and the United Nations Islands if attacked. "There is a situation in the Taiwan area which I consider is not of our concern," the President said. "The United States would not consider the defense of Formosa and the United Nations Islands if attacked."

The President said that the United States would not consider the defense of Formosa and the United Nations Islands if attacked. "There is a situation in the Taiwan area which I consider is not of our concern," the President said. "The United States would not consider the defense of Formosa and the United Nations Islands if attacked."

The President said that the United States would not consider the defense of Formosa and the United Nations Islands if attacked. "There is a situation in the Taiwan area which I consider is not of our concern," the President said. "The United States would not consider the defense of Formosa and the United Nations Islands if attacked."

The President said that the United States would not consider the defense of Formosa and the United Nations Islands if attacked. "There is a situation in the Taiwan area which I consider is not of our concern," the President said. "The United States would not consider the defense of Formosa and the United Nations Islands if attacked."

The President said that the United States would not consider the defense of Formosa and the United Nations Islands if attacked. "There is a situation in the Taiwan area which I consider is not of our concern," the President said. "The United States would not consider the defense of Formosa and the United Nations Islands if attacked."

The President said that the United States would not consider the defense of Formosa and the United Nations Islands if attacked. "There is a situation in the Taiwan area which I consider is not of our concern," the President said. "The United States would not consider the defense of Formosa and the United Nations Islands if attacked."

The President said that the United States would not consider the defense of Formosa and the United Nations Islands if attacked. "There is a situation in the Taiwan area which I consider is not of our concern," the President said. "The United States would not consider the defense of Formosa and the United Nations Islands if attacked."

The President said that the United States would not consider the defense of Formosa and the United Nations Islands if attacked. "There is a situation in the Taiwan area which I consider is not of our concern," the President said. "The United States would not consider the defense of Formosa and the United Nations Islands if attacked."

The President said that the United States would not consider the defense of Formosa and the United Nations Islands if attacked. "There is a situation in the Taiwan area which I consider is not of our concern," the President said. "The United States would not consider the defense of Formosa and the United Nations Islands if attacked."

The President said that the United States would not consider the defense of Formosa and the United Nations Islands if attacked. "There is a situation in the Taiwan area which I consider is not of our concern," the President said. "The United States would not consider the defense of Formosa and the United N
Two New Free States Come Into Being in Africa. Tomorrow.

At a Glance

THE PRESS AND \n
KABUL TIMES JUNE 18, 1962

While decisions are being made in the capitals of Nigeria and Ghana and within the United Nations, we hear today of new changes in Africa. The West African nation of Ghana and the food exporting under the name of Nigeria have joined the United Nations list of independent states. This is the result of the long and bitter struggle for independence which began in the early days of the 20th century. The struggle for freedom has been long and hard, but it is now complete.

The United Nations has fully recognized the independence of these two nations, and the United States has also recognized their independence. The United States, which has always been a leader in the fight for freedom, has now joined the United Nations in recognizing the independence of these two nations.

The United Nations, which is the world's primary forum for international cooperation, has played a key role in the development of these two nations. The United Nations has provided financial assistance and technical expertise to help these nations build their economies and improve the lives of their people.

The United States has also played a key role in the development of these two nations. The United States has provided financial assistance and technical expertise to help these nations build their economies and improve the lives of their people.

The United States has also played a key role in the development of these two nations. The United States has provided financial assistance and technical expertise to help these nations build their economies and improve the lives of their people.

The United States has also played a key role in the development of these two nations. The United States has provided financial assistance and technical expertise to help these nations build their economies and improve the lives of their people.

The United States has also played a key role in the development of these two nations. The United States has provided financial assistance and technical expertise to help these nations build their economies and improve the lives of their people.
AFGHANISTAN'S FOLKLORE

(Cont'd. from Page 2)

KABUL, June 30.—Twenty technicians of the Afghan Electric Company, the Federal Republic of Germany for further studies in various of their extrastoral activities were met by the Federal German Government.

KABUL, June 30.—The Polish Civil Aviation delegation left Kabul for a fruitful visit on Thursday after signing an air transport agreement with their Community. The delegation was seen off by Mr. Hakimi, the president of I'Afghan Civil Aviation, Mr. Aziz, and other officials of the Department and Polish Embass.

KABUL, June 30.—A group of Pakistanis recently arrived arrived at the camp. The group consisted of men who took place between the nationalities and the guards of the camp on their nationalist, in reported to have been injured.

KHEDA'S APPEAL

(Cont'd. from page 1)

be strengthened by Algerian Mosque Liberation Army (ALM), a border patrol, and soldiers of them units would enter Algeria in accordance with the proposals by the Provincial Government, he added.

"On gaining our independence we shall continue to demonstrate our respect for the Kavian (melliyat) Agreement and our ability to honour and lead our country," said Mr. Khedda said.

"We are certain that the strict order and discipline, the Algerian Army becomes accessible to independence in condition that the world will see world admiration and which can be reached by the existing of the Algerian Army."

He called on all Algerians to support the National Liberation Front under the leadership of the Algerian Provisional Government. He pointed out that the Algiers agreement was the fruit of long struggle for freedom and independence. He added that the Algerian people will long live the Algerian Democratic and Social Republic, long live our independence and the memory of our martyrs especially of those who suffered for centuries.

"He ended his broadcast by saying: "Live long the unity of the Algerian people, live long the Algerian Democratic and Social Republic, live long our independence and the memory of our martyrs especially of those who suffered for centuries.""