Education
In Afghanistan:
The Institute Of Education

BY: ISRAELI SHEPPARD

Late in 1964, the Ministry of Education initiated a series of educational reforms, which included the establishment of the Institute of Education. The Institute was established to provide professional training for teachers and to improve the quality of education in Afghanistan. The institute offered various courses and programs, including teacher training, educational administration, and academic leadership.

This proposal was approved by the ministry and was supported by the International Institute of Education (IIIE). The IIIE provided a grant to the Ministry of Education to support the Institute of Education. The institute was designed to train teachers and provide them with the knowledge and skills necessary to improve the quality of education in Afghanistan.

The Institute of Education was established in Kabul in 1965 and began operations in 1966. It was located on 15 acres of land and was equipped with modern facilities. The institute offered a full range of courses and programs, including teacher training, educational administration, and academic leadership.

Today, the Institute of Education is one of the leading educational institutions in Afghanistan. It provides professional training for teachers and contributes to the development of the Afghan education system.

Saturn Super Booster Can Operate Minus One Of Its Eight Engines

The article discusses the ability of the Saturn Super Booster to operate with one engine out of eight. The test was conducted at NASA's Marshall Space Flight Center in Huntsville, Alabama.

The rocket, known as the Saturn V, is the largest and most powerful rocket ever built. It was used to launch the Apollo missions to the moon and to send the first American astronauts to space.

The test was successful, and the rocket was able to complete the mission despite the loss of one engine. This demonstrates the reliability and durability of the Saturn V rocket.

officials of the Ministry of Education, representatives of schools and the teaching staff of Kabul University.

In his address to the Prime Minister, earlier in the meeting Dr. Mohammad Anas said, it adds to our delight to know that His Majesty the King has appointed the Prime Minister of long standing and distinguished service record in the field of education.

In this atomic age new conditions have been created and an opportunity of co-operation on an unprecedented scale exists between countries in the light of which important development plans have been launched in this country. It is hoped that as a result of efforts by your Government greater use will be made of this historic opportunity in raising the living standard of this nation.

Dr. Anas went on to say that the Ministry of Education is in a position to develop and implement the development co-operation programme will be extended during the term of office of this government. Your excellency, I have occasion to say that for the first time in our history, this nation is working on the principles of education, economy and particularly, of national education and social services.

The Three Lemons

mother's abuse pledged his love to the only woman, and remarried her.

A number of young girls, in differences with the Prince's wishes, resided the bride. From that time forth Jahangir had no rest, and daily mourned over the loss of her beauty and nothing could comfort him. Thus agitated and distracted, he passed his days and nights, but no rest he had.

The young prince, greatly struck his head and said, "Ah, my queen, who is she? Has your mate been lost?"

He said, "You had better not go on a journey, and save your strength for me."

The king was in a state of hearing the fool play the ugly music and sang and sang, and said to her over the executioner. But the beautiful damsel, being a companion of the king, saved her and saved her from execution. The next day a grand entertainment was made and the young couple's wedding was celebrated with pomp and pagentry.

Southern Rhodesia Formally Applies For Independence

LONDON, Mar. 31. (Reuters) - The self-governing Colony of Southern Rhodesia has made formal application to the British Government for dominion status for its people. Mr. Winston Field, announced last night before returning to Salisbury that the Rhodesia Premier, Mr. Field, was here for talks with the British Government on the question of Southern Rhodesia, Nyanza Federation, and the Rhodesia/Nyanza Federation, and said: "I have an immediate response to make to the people of either Northern Rhodesia or Nyanza."

A Wraughful Sin

Ray Welensky

LONDON, Mar. 31. (Reuters) - The Government of Prime Minister Field and Mr. Winston Field (Prime Minister of Southern Rhodesia) will not only the white mass down the river, but the African moderates as well.

He called the decision announced yesterday, to allow Northern Rhodesia to secede from the Federation, a "humiliation" administered to the black people who run the British Government.

The time has come for the closing of the door to Central Africa, because the very things that we fought for, the integrity and the civilization we have created are being placed in jeopardy," he said.

He added that he would strongly resist the demand for independence and Mr. Winston Field (Prime Minister of Southern Rhodesia) "can only 100 per cent on my assistance." He explained that he had refused to have lunch with Prifile Mr. Antwulot, a fellow of the University of London, the Minister responsible for Central African Affairs, after being told the decision because "it was impossible to find food for the people who betrayed me."

But he denied reports saying he had stormed out of the meeting with Mr. Butler, as the contrary, he said, he had a personal talk with him afterwards.

He said he had no illusion about the double regime which was being played at the moment.

The decision he said, may have been born of necessity but it produced some very serious problems for all, ranging from the future of the armed forces to economic problems.
