The Arab Federation

While these Arab countries, the U.S.A., Iraq, Syria, and Iran have agreed to enter into a federation under the name of the "United Arab Republic," it is expected that they will be able to take the steps necessary to make it possible.

The following are the countries which are involved in this federation: Jordan, Egypt, and Iraq.

The federation will be composed of three main parts: the government part, the business part, and the cultural part.

The federation will have a single currency, a single national flag, and will have a single national language, Arabic.

The federation will have a single national educational system, and will have a single national health care system.

The federation will have a single national security system, and will have a single national defense system.

The federation will have a single national foreign policy, and will have a single national diplomatic service.

The federation will have a single national military service, and will have a single national army.

The federation will have a single national language, Arabic, and will have a single national script, the Arabic script.

The federation will have a single national alphabet, the Arabic alphabet.

The federation will have a single national calendar, the Gregorian calendar.

The federation will have a single national time zone, the Central European Time Zone.

The federation will have a single national time, the Greenwich Mean Time (GMT).
