INTERNATIONAL ECONOMIC CO-OPERATION

The following is a part of a statement by Mr. Hari Prasad Chaudhury, India's Under-Secretary at the Indian Mission in the United Nations, on the world economic situation.

"The world economic situation is steadily improving. The establishment of the United Nations Economic and Social Council, the adoption of the General Assembly's resolution on the establishment of the Committee on Trade and Development, and the General Assembly's decision to adopt the draft inter-American declaration on economic co-operation are all significant steps in this direction.

The developments in the international economic field are reflected in the recommendations of the Committee on Trade and Development, which include the introduction of a general trade policy, the establishment of a permanent committee for the study of international trade, and the establishment of a fund for the promotion of international trade.

The recommendations of the Committee on Trade and Development are based on the principles of the United Nations charter and on the principles of the General Assembly's resolution on the establishment of the Committee on Trade and Development.

The proposals of the Committee on Trade and Development are likely to be taken up by the General Assembly in its plenary session. In this regard, it is important to stress that the proposals of the Committee on Trade and Development are not only important for the economic development of the United Nations, but also for the economic development of the world as a whole.

The establishment of the United Nations Economic and Social Council is an important step towards the establishment of a world economic system.
