NORTH VIETNAM HAS NO TROOPS IN LAOS

Hanoi Rejects

To coincide with the signing of the Geneva Accords, North Vietnamese troops have moved into Laos to support the Pathet Lao forces in their war against the U.S. and its allies. The U.S. has denied the presence of North Vietnamese troops in Laos, insisting that they are only providing military advice and assistance. North Vietnam has also rejected U.S. claims of its involvement in Laos, stating that it is purely a matter of self-defense.

Compromise Hopes Between Indonesia, Philippines & Malaya Remain

High Over Malaysia

NOMADISM AND STUDIES IN PAKHTUN NOMADISM

By KLAUS PETERSEN

The term "nomad" is generally used to describe a group of people who make a living by moving from place to place in search of better pastures for their animals or for other seasonal reasons. In the case of Pakhtuns, a nomadic lifestyle is an integral part of their culture and way of life. Pakhtuns are known for their strong sense of family and community, with families often traveling together as a unit. They are skilled at managing their livestock and adapting to the harsh conditions of their environment.

REVIVAL OF "SULTANATE CULTURE" BY AFGHAN KINGS IN INDIA

Part III

The Afghan rulers continued their efforts to revive the Sultanate culture in India. They believed that this would help them strengthen their position and gain the respect of the local population. However, the Indians were not swayed by this attempt, and they continued to resist the Afghan influence. The Afghan kings eventually realized that their efforts were futile and decided to abandon their plans.

The Man To Replace Pope John Will Keep Up His Ideals

CARDINALS COMMENTS

The man who is to replace Pope John would keep up with his ideals. Cardinal Joseph Ratzinger, who delivered the homily at Pope John's funeral, said the new pope would follow in the footsteps of John XXIII and John Paul II.

Cardinal Ratzinger praised the late pontiffs for their commitment to peace, justice, and social reform. He added that the new pope would continue their legacy of dialogue with other religions, the promotion of human rights, and the defense of the environment.

Pope John II, who served from 1978 to 1982, was known for his progressive views on issues such as nuclear disarmament, human rights, and the role of the Church in modern society.

The new pope, Cardinal Ratzinger, would assume the name of Benedict XVI. He has served as the Archbishop of Munich and Freising in Germany since 1982 and was a close assistant to Pope John Paul II.

The choice of Cardinal Ratzinger is significant because of his strong opposition to certain reforms of John Paul II, such as the ordination of women and the stricter enforcement of Church discipline.

South African Federation Reported Asking For Independence In 1969

The South African Federation is reported to have asked for independence in 1969. The Federation, which consists of the six white-dominated provinces, has been under the control of the African National Congress (ANC) since 1985. The ANC, led by Nelson Mandela, has been fighting for the end of apartheid, a system of racial segregation and discrimination, for decades.

The Federation's request for independence was a part of its broader strategy to undermine the ANC's efforts to end apartheid. The Federation's leaders believed that independence would allow them to maintain their power and control over the white electorate.

The Federation's request was met with skepticism by the ANC, who saw it as a ploy to maintain white dominance. The ANC's response was to intensify its struggle for political power and to demand a more immediate end to apartheid.

Free Exchange Rates At Da Afghanistan Bank

The Da Afghanistan Bank has introduced free exchange rates. This means that the bank will no longer set fixed exchange rates for different currencies. Instead, the prices will be determined by supply and demand in the market.

Free exchange rates are expected to make the currency more flexible and to reduce corruption in the banking system. However, there are concerns that the move could lead to fluctuations in the currency value.

Two Englishmen Tourists Die In Traffic Accident

Two English tourists were killed in a traffic accident in Kabul. The tourists, who were on a road trip, were killed when their car collided with a truck on a busy road.

The accident occurred on a stretch of highway that is notorious for its dangerous driving conditions. The tourists were traveling with a local guide and had been on a tour of the country's historical sites.

Cardinal Ratzinger's Installation Mass

Cardinal Joseph Ratzinger will be installed as the new pope on June 28. The installation mass, which will be held in St. Peter's Basilica, will be attended by leaders from around the world.

The installation mass is expected to be a major event for the Catholic Church, as it marks the beginning of a new era for the Church under Cardinal Ratzinger's领导.

AMENDMENT IN IAEA CONSTITUTION ADOPTED BY NATIONAL ASSEMBLY

The National Assembly has adopted an amendment to the IAEA Constitution. The amendment will allow the IAEA to have a greater role in monitoring nuclear activities in member states.

The amendment was proposed by the government of the Islamic Republic of Iran, which has been under pressure from the international community to prevent nuclear proliferation.

The amendment will allow the IAEA to conduct inspections in member states more frequently and with greater access to facilities.

The amendment was signed into law on June 10 and will come into effect on July 1.
