U.N. GENERAL ASSEMBLY URGES OIL, ARMS BAN AGAINST SOUTH AFRICA
Opposition By Several Western Nations Defeated

United Nations, November 15 (AP) - The U.N. General Assembly Wednesday endorsed U.S. proposals calling for an oil embargo and an arms embargo against South Africa in order to prevent South Africa from continuing its aggressive policies.

The vote was 55 to 26, with 21 abstentions. The U.S., the United Kingdom, Canada, and a number of African nations, joined the U.S. in voting for the proposals. South Africa, supported by a number of Western nations, voted against.

The vote was taken after a lengthy debate, during which a number of speakers expressed their concern about South Africa's policies and its violation of international law.

Sukarno Changes Government Form To Himself Serves AS PRIME MINISTER

Jakarta, November 14 (AP) - President Sukarno announced Wednesday that he would assume the post of Prime Minister in addition to his duties as President.

Sukarno said the change in government form was necessary to strengthen the government and to ensure the stability of the country.

The announcement was made during a meeting with cabinet ministers, where Sukarno expressed his concern about the unrest in the country.

The move is expected to strengthen the government's position and to encourage the people to support the government's policies.

The move also comes at a time when the government is facing several challenges, including the ongoing protests and the economic crisis.

Sukarno's announcement is seen as a strong signal of his determination to lead the country and to ensure its stability.

The move is also expected to increase the government's ability to implement its policies and to address the concerns of the people.

The move is likely to be met with mixed reactions, with some supporters of Sukarno welcoming the move and some opponents expressing concern about the impact on the country's governance.

Regardless of the reactions, the move is seen as a significant development in the country's political landscape.

The move is also expected to have implications for the country's foreign relations, with some nations expressing concern about the impact on the country's standing in the international community.

The move is also expected to have implications for the country's economy, with some experts expressing concern about the impact on the country's growth and development.

The move is also expected to have implications for the country's social stability, with some experts expressing concern about the impact on the country's peace and security.

The move is also expected to have implications for the country's political stability, with some experts expressing concern about the impact on the country's democracy and governance.

Regardless of the implications, the move is seen as a significant development in the country's political landscape.

BA'AOTH INTERNATIONAL SAYS PARTY ASSUMING CONTROL OVER IRAQ

November 15, 1953

A meeting of the Arab National Congress, headed by a Syrian, announced Friday they are assuming direct control of Iraq, where the Ba'ath party is strong.

The congress' announcement came during the World Council of Fair Trade Unions meeting in London, where representatives from all over the world gathered to discuss economic and social issues.

The congress' decision to assume control of Iraq is seen as a significant development in the region, with implications for both Iraq and the broader Middle East.

The congress' announcement was met with mixed reactions from the international community, with some countries expressing support for the Ba'ath party's approach while others were concerned about the potential for increased conflict.

Ba'ath party leaders have long been critical of Western influence in the region, and their decision to assume control of Iraq is likely to be seen as a further attempt to push back against outside influence.

The congress' announcement also comes at a time of increased tension in the region, with ongoing conflicts in Syria and Yemen, as well as concerns about Iran's nuclear program.

Despite these challenges, the congress' decision to assume control of Iraq is expected to be a significant topic of discussion at the World Council of Fair Trade Unions meeting, with representatives from around the world expected to weigh in on the issue.

The meeting was attended by delegates from all over the world, with representatives from major trade unions and organizations gathered to discuss the future of the global economy.

The congress' announcement was met with a mix of reactions from the international community, with some countries expressing support for the Ba'ath party's approach while others were concerned about the potential for increased conflict.
