NEW KINDS OF MILES Found By Chinese Entomologists

Chinese entomologists have discovered that certain insects can fly using only a single kind of wing on one side of their body. This discovery challenges the traditional understanding of insect flight mechanics. The research is supported by the Ministry of Agriculture and Forestry, and is expected to have significant implications for the study of insect behavior and conservation efforts. Further studies are planned to explore the full potential of this new understanding in insect flight.
Security Council To Discuss Apartheid

UNITED NATIONS, Nov 21—The Security Council today, at its 11th meeting, will discuss the question of apartheid in South Africa.

The draft resolution which has been circulated by South Africa's representative, Mr. Shannon, is of particular interest. It is a draft resolution which was presented by South Africa to the General Assembly last year. The draft resolution, if adopted, would condemn apartheid and require all member states to refrain from any action which might give assistance to the apartheid regime.

The draft resolution calls for the immediate withdrawal of all forces, including police and military, from South Africa and for the establishment of a United Nations Commission of Inquiry to investigate the situation in South Africa.

The Security Council, in its deliberations, will also consider the report of the Committee on Human Rights of the General Assembly, which has been mandated to investigate the situation in South Africa.

The draft resolution, if adopted, would constitute a powerful signal of international condemnation of apartheid.
