Johnson-Khrushchov Meeting Must Await New Developments

U.S. President Says Road Must Be Paved To Summit

Johnson gave a short, late Wednesday that a meeting of the two leaders would be improbable unless there were some indication that the current NATO-Cuba crisis was on the verge of being solved.

When there are signs of peace, I will be glad to make a decision

President Johnson said in a brief statement that there were signs of peace but no indication of the future road to the summit.

The President, commenting on the situation, said that he was glad to make a decision on the future of the current Nato-Cuba crisis.

Defence Secretary McNamara has been working with the State Department on the current crisis, and the President has been in touch with the Secretary of Defence.

Elliot emphasized that relations between the students and the Soviets were to be formal. However, reports only refer to exceptional cases. Elliot refused to answer a journalist's question as to whether there were other cases where African students had lost their lives in shootouts with Soviets. The students had come to the embassy to obtain precise information on the death of their fellow students.

Jirga In Peshawar Assails Pakistan's Policies

KABUL, Dec. 2 - President Zahir Shah met here today with 12-member Jirga from Peshawar, the provincial capital. The Jirga, representing the views of Urdu-speaking Muslims of the Peshawar region, is reported to be dissatisfied with the government's policies.

Although the Jirga leaders did not disclose their specific complaints, it is believed that they are likely to express dissatisfaction with the government's stance on the war in Afghanistan and the ongoing efforts to stabilize the situation in the region. The meeting is expected to be an opportunity for the President to address the concerns of the Jirga representatives and seek their input on how to improve the situation.

The meeting is significant as it highlights the ongoing tensions between the central government and the local communities, particularly in the border areas where the conflict is most intense. The government's efforts to engage with local leaders and understand their perspectives are crucial in ensuring a more effective response to the crisis.

The President is expected to address the Jirga, emphasizing the importance of unity and cooperation in addressing the challenges faced by the country. The meeting is an indication of the government's commitment to dialogue and engagement with stakeholders to find solutions to the complex issues at hand.
