Pozhawak Praises Trade Conference, Sees Disarmament As Most Important Issue

The Secretary-General of the United Nations, Mr. Trygve Lie, praised the recent Trade Conference and expressed his hope that the discussions would pave the way for a peaceful solution of the world's economic problems. He warned against the dangers of economic conflict and emphasized the need for cooperation among nations to ensure peace and prosperity.

Affari, the Polish Premier, in his speech at the conference, stressed the importance of international cooperation in the face of the current economic crisis. He urged the delegates to work towards a more just and equitable international economic order.

Other speakers at the conference included representatives from the United States, the Soviet Union, China, and Japan. They all emphasized the need for stronger economic ties among nations and the importance of regional cooperation in addressing economic problems.

The conference concluded with the adoption of a number of recommendations aimed at promoting international trade and economic cooperation. These recommendations included the establishment of a new international economic organization to replace the existing one.

In his closing remarks, Mr. Lie expressed confidence that the conference would be a significant step towards a more peaceful and prosperous world.
