Pozhawak Praises Trade Conference, Sees Disarmament As Most Important Issue

Father's note. The following is an excerpt of a letter by Frank L. Johnson, a member of the US delegation to the Conference on Disarmament. The letter is addressed to the Secretary of State, Dr. Henry Kissinger, and expresses the author's views on the importance of disarmament.

Dear Mr. Secretary,

I am writing to express my strong support for the resolution on disarmament that was adopted by the Conference on Disarmament last week. As a member of the US delegation, I was privileged to participate in the discussions and I believe that this resolution represents a significant step forward in the movement towards a safer world.

I was particularly impressed by the language used in the resolution, which emphasizes the need for a comprehensive and effective approach to disarmament. I believe that this approach is essential if we are to make real progress in reducing the nuclear arms race.

I understand that there may be some opposition to this resolution, but I hope that you will work to ensure its adoption. I believe that the future of our planet depends on our ability to move towards a world free of nuclear weapons.

Sincerely yours,

Frank L. Johnson

Vietnam Attacks

The results in the former Saigon area have become a battle-raging and pregnant with disaster for the American government and for all those people who had been urging the US to change its policy and end the war.

The situation in the Gulf of Tonkin and the Cambodian area has become so tense between all nations that some nations are ready to take practical measures to fulfill their promises to those countries who would shield the financial crisis of the region.

The North Vietnamese and their allies waited for the US to act. The North Vietnamese are waiting for the US to act. The North Vietnamese are waiting for the US to act. The North Vietnamese are waiting for the US to act.
