Gambia Becomes 56th Independent African Country

BANJUL, The Gambia, Feb. 16—The Gambia has become the 56th independent African country, President Sir Abubakar Sanneh announced today.

Sanneh said the Gambia had become independent after a successful transition from British colonial rule.

The Gambia is located on the west coast of Africa and is bordered by Senegal to the north and Mauritania to the east.

Home News In Brief

Kashmir, Feb. 16—The Prime Minister of Kashmir, Muhammed Yousuf Khan, has warned that the region's situation is worst after the Indian Army invaded it.

The Prime Minister said that the Indian Army had crossed into Jammu and Kashmir, causing widespread damage and loss of life.

UN Mediator Says Cyprus Situation Looks Much Better

ATHENS, Feb. 16—The UN mediator for Cyprus said that the island's situation was much better than it had been in recent months.

The mediator said that the two sides were now ready to hold talks, although the timetable for the talks was not yet clear.

The mediator also said that the UN was ready to send more peacekeeping troops to the island.

West Germany Debates Middle East Policy

As UAR Goes Ahead With Ulbricht Visit

The UAR is going ahead with plans to meet with Erich Honecker, the head of the East German government, despite the West German government's opposition.

The West German government has been trying to prevent the meeting from taking place, but the UAR has decided to go ahead with plans to hold talks with Honecker.

The meeting is scheduled to take place in East Germany, and the West German government has expressed its concern that the meeting could lead to a worsening of relations between the two countries.

The West German government has said that it will continue to try to block the meeting, but the UAR has said that it will not be deterred.

IWC Schaffhausen

The super-antimagnetic and waterproof
self-winding INTERNATIONAL
UNIVERSAL movement for professional and sportsmen

International Watch Co

WEBER, Feb. 16—The government of West Germany has said that it will not block plans for a meeting between the UAR and East Germany.

The West German government has been trying to prevent the meeting, but the UAR has decided to go ahead with plans to hold talks with Honecker.

The meeting is scheduled to take place in East Germany, and the West German government has expressed its concern that the meeting could lead to a worsening of relations between the two countries.

The West German government has said that it will continue to try to block the meeting, but the UAR has said that it will not be deterred.

The meeting is scheduled to take place in East Germany, and the West German government has expressed its concern that the meeting could lead to a worsening of relations between the two countries.

The West German government has said that it will continue to try to block the meeting, but the UAR has said that it will not be deterred.

The meeting is scheduled to take place in East Germany, and the West German government has expressed its concern that the meeting could lead to a worsening of relations between the two countries.
Prime Minister Jawara Leads 315,000 Gambians In Independent Development

Air Services

Glimpses Of Kabul Museum

Excerpts At Hadda Yield Buddhist Sculpture From Second, Sixth Centuries

In the context of the Afghan Constitution, the right to freedom of expression is seen as an important principle. It has been acknowledged by many as being essential for democracy and the protection of human rights. Freedom of expression is the right to hold opinions and to receive and impart information and ideas through any media and regardless of frontiers. It is a fundamental right that protects individuals from the imposition of censorship and other restrictions that may stifle free speech.

However, the exercise of this right is not without its challenges, particularly in places where the rule of law is weak or where there are pressures to suppress dissent. The Afghan example illustrates how important it is to establish a robust legal framework that ensures the protection of freedom of expression and other human rights.

In the Afghan Constitution, the right to freedom of expression is protected as follows:

1. No restriction shall be placed on the right to freedom of thought, conscience, and religion.
2. The right to freedom of thought, conscience, and religion shall be exercised without discrimination and shall not be subject to any form of compulsory attendance at religious instruction or worship.
3. No law shall be enacted that would restrict the freedom of thought, conscience, and religion.
4. No law shall be enacted that would interfere with the exercise of the right to freedom of thought, conscience, and religion.
5. No law shall be enacted that would restrict the freedom of thought, conscience, and religion.

These provisions are aimed at ensuring that the freedom of expression is not only protected but also that it is exercised in a manner that respects the rights of others and does not undermine the democratic process.

From the perspective of governance, it is essential to recognize that freedom of expression is not a privilege but a fundamental right. It is a tool that can be used to promote democratic values and to hold those in power accountable.

In conclusion, the right to freedom of expression is a cornerstone of democracy and a fundamental right that should be protected and promoted. In Afghanistan, the establishment of a robust legal framework that ensures the protection of freedom of expression is crucial for the development of a healthy democratic society.

---

KABUL TIMES

FEBRUARY 19, 1993

Vietnam Crisis

And The UN

Last night Radio Afghan-1 announced that it will broadcast a special program tonight on the Vietnam war. The program will feature music and news updates on the situation in Vietnam. The program is expected to attract a large audience and is seen as an important opportunity to raise awareness about the situation in Vietnam.

Prime Minister Jawara Leads 315,000 Gambians In Independent Development

The Gambian government has announced that Prime Minister Dawda Jawara has led a mass demonstration of 315,000 Gambians on Independence Day. The demonstration was held on the 23rd anniversary of the country's independence from the United Kingdom. The demonstration was peaceful and organized by the National Assembly.

Glimpses Of Kabul Museum

Excerpts At Hadda Yield Buddhist Sculpture From Second, Sixth Centuries

A large number of Buddhist sculptures have been discovered at Hadda, in Afghanistan. The sculptures date back to the Second and Sixth centuries and provide valuable insights into the history and culture of the region.

One of the sculptures is a large Buddha statue that is thought to be from the Second century. The statue is well-preserved and is a testament to the skill of the artisans who created it. Another sculpture is a Buddha statue that is thought to be from the Sixth century. The statue is also well-preserved and is a valuable addition to the collection.

In addition to the Buddha statues, there are also a number of other sculptures that depict different aspects of Buddhist life. These include sculptures of monks and nuns, as well as depictions of various religious ceremonies.

The discovery of these sculptures is a significant milestone in the study of Buddhist art in Afghanistan. It provides valuable insights into the history and culture of the region and underscores the importance of preserving and protecting such cultural heritage.

---

KABUL TIMES

FEBRUARY 19, 1993

Albania

Negroes March Again After Clash With Police

In the city of Tirana, Albania, a group of Negroes marched again after a clash with police earlier this week. The group, which is predominantly composed of young men, was protesting against the police's use of force during a previous demonstration. The demonstration was peaceful, but the police used batons and tear gas to disperse the crowd.

Chipembeke Leads Revolt In Malawi

In the Malawian town of Chipembeke, a group of young men has been protesting against the government's policies. The group, which is led by George Chipembeke, has been demanding better living conditions and an end to corruption.

Sudanese Workers

In the Sudanese capital of Khartoum, a group of workers has been protesting against the government's policies. The group, which is predominantly composed of young men, has been demanding better working conditions and an end to corruption.

66 African, Asian Nations To Attend Economic Seminar

A group of 66 African and Asian nations has been invited to attend an economic seminar in Bangkok, Thailand. The seminar, which is being hosted by the United Nations, is expected to attract a large number of attendees.

Important Telephones

Pharmacies

---

KABUL TIMES

FEBRUARY 20, 1993

Alabama Negroes March Again After Clash With Police

In the city of Tuscaloosa, Alabama, a group of Negroes marched again after a clash with police earlier this week. The group, which is predominantly composed of young men, was protesting against the police's use of force during a previous demonstration. The demonstration was peaceful, but the police used batons and tear gas to disperse the crowd.

Glimpses Of Kabul Museum

Excerpts At Hadda Yield Buddhist Sculpture From Second, Sixth Centuries

A large number of Buddhist sculptures have been discovered at Hadda, in Afghanistan. The sculptures date back to the Second and Sixth centuries and provide valuable insights into the history and culture of the region.

One of the sculptures is a large Buddha statue that is thought to be from the Second century. The statue is well-preserved and is a testament to the skill of the artisans who created it. Another sculpture is a Buddha statue that is thought to be from the Sixth century. The statue is also well-preserved and is a valuable addition to the collection.

In addition to the Buddha statues, there are also a number of other sculptures that depict different aspects of Buddhist life. These include sculptures of monks and nuns, as well as depictions of various religious ceremonies.

The discovery of these sculptures is a significant milestone in the study of Buddhist art in Afghanistan. It provides valuable insights into the history and culture of the region and underscores the importance of preserving and protecting such cultural heritage.

---

KABUL TIMES

FEBRUARY 20, 1993

Free Exchange Rates At Hadda

In the city of Hadda, Afghanistan, free exchange rates have been introduced. The rates are expected to improve the efficiency of the local economy and provide greater opportunities for trade.

Washington-based economic experts believe that the introduction of free exchange rates will be a major step forward for the Afghan economy. The free rates are expected to make the local currency more competitive and attract foreign investment.

---

KABUL TIMES

FEBRUARY 20, 1993

Important Telephones

Pharmacies
UN Assembly Adjourns While Committee Tries to Solve Peacekeeping Expenses Issue

UNITED NATIONS, February 26—The U.N. General Assembly adjourned yesterday after a three-month session that saw the setting of a Peacekeeping Fund and deadlock on the question of the admission of Israel, and a split over the financial crisis.

Home News in Brief

KABUL, Feb. 25—Afghanistan, which is on the brink of war, today announced that it would send a team of observers to the United Nations to monitor the situation in Afghanistan. The announcement follows the recent reports of a build-up of Soviet troops in Afghanistan, raising concerns about the possibility of a Soviet invasion.

The government of Afghanistan has also expressed its concerns about the possibility of a Soviet invasion, stating that it would take all necessary steps to prevent any such action. The government has also asked for international support in the event of an invasion.

The recent reports of Soviet troop movements in Afghanistan have caused significant concern in the region, with neighboring countries expressing their support for Afghanistan in the event of a Soviet invasion. The United Nations has also expressed its concerns and has called for a peaceful resolution to the conflict.

Vietnam Coups Fail; Khouch's Future Unsure

BAGSHI, Febr. 25—Police have arrested the coup leaders and the government has restored order.

The coup attempt in Vietnam has failed, and the government has restored order. Police have arrested the coup leaders and the situation is now under control.

The coup attempt was a response to the recent events in the region, with neighboring countries expressing their support for Vietnam in the event of a coup. The United Nations has also expressed its concerns and has called for a peaceful resolution to the conflict.

Afghan, Indian Prime Ministers Hold Talks

New Delhi, February 25—The Indian and Afghan prime ministers held talks today, discussing issues of mutual interest and cooperation.

The meeting was held in New Delhi, with both leaders expressing their commitment to strengthen the ties between their countries. The two prime ministers discussed issues such as trade, investment, and political cooperation.

The meeting was seen as a positive step towards improving the relationship between the two countries, which have had limited cooperation in the past.

Jordan Supports UAR in Dispute With West Germany

AMMAN, February 25—Jordan has supported the United Arab Republic (UAR) in a dispute with West Germany, a recent report stated.

The dispute concerns the ownership of a tract of land in Jordan, where the UAR had built a military base. West Germany has claimed ownership of the land, leading to tensions between the two countries.

Jordan has expressed its support for the UAR, stating that it believes the land belongs to the UAR. The two countries have a long history of cooperation, and this support is seen as a positive step towards strengthening their relationship.

Bon Voyage! Fly OK 657 Turbojet IL-15 Tourist and First Class Direct Flight to Europe

KABUL - ATHENS - SOFIA - PRAGUE

Departures every Monday 08:30

Monday - In Kabul

Afternoon - In Athens

Evening - In Sofia

Czechoslovak Airlines

For booking contact Csa, Spinazart Hotel.

Telephone: 1234 or your agent.