CLARIFY, COMPLETE PRESS LAW

Dear Editor,

Your article in the Press Law last night contained facts which are not correct. For example, it is stated that the Malaysian laws on press are among the worst in the world. This is not true. Before any law is passed in Malaysia, it is subject to the scrutiny of the media and the public. It is also stated that the Malaysian press is not free. This is also not true. The Malaysian press is free and independent. It is able to criticize the government and publish the truth. It is also stated that the Malaysian press is not able to publish controversial topics. This is not true. The Malaysian press is able to publish controversial topics, including those related to the government. It is also stated that the Malaysian press is not able to criticize the government. This is not true. The Malaysian press is able to criticize the government and publish the truth.

Yours sincerely,

MOHAMAD SALEH

France To Set Up Space Centre In South America

NEW YORK, Feb. 11 (Reuters) - France has opened a space centre in South America, a spokesman for the French government said today.

The centre will be used to launch satellites into orbit. It is located in the Brazilian state of Bahia. The French government is hoping to use the centre to boost its space programme.

The centre is expected to be operational within two years. It will be used to launch satellites for other countries, including the United States and Japan.

Prime Minister for Inland Indo, Points Out Common Goals

BANJARAN, Feb. 11 (AFP) - Prime Minister for Inland Indo, points out that there are common goals among Indonesia, Malaysia and Singapore.

He said that some of these goals include the development of infrastructure, the promotion of trade and investment, and the strengthening of regional cooperation. He also mentioned the need for the three countries to work together to address issues such as terrorism and drug trafficking.

The Prime Minister said that Indonesia, Malaysia and Singapore have a shared history and culture, and that this is an important basis for their cooperation.

The Prime Minister also said that the three countries must work together to maintain regional peace and stability.

The Prime Minister's comments come as Indonesia, Malaysia and Singapore are currently involved in a number of regional initiatives, including the ASEAN regional forum and the Bali Process.

GREECE TO TIGHTEN LAW ON ADOPTION

By Foreigners

ATHENS, Feb. 11 (Reuters) - Greece has tightened its laws on adoption by foreign nationals, the government announced today.

The new laws, which will come into effect on March 1, will make it more difficult for foreign nationals to adopt children in Greece. The changes include new requirements for applicants to prove their financial stability, and new regulations for the placement of children with adoptive parents.

The government said that the changes were necessary to protect the interests of children and to ensure that they are placed in the best possible homes.

The new laws also include provisions for the regulation of adoption agencies, and for the protection of adoptive parents. The government said that these changes will help to ensure that adoption in Greece is carried out in a responsible and ethical manner.

The changes were announced by the Minister of Labour and Social Affairs, who said that they were part of the government's efforts to improve the situation of children and families in Greece.

The new laws were approved by the Greek parliament on February 9.
