2-27-1965

Kabul Times (February 27, 1965, vol. 3, no. 297)

Bakhtar News Agency
U.S. Uses Jets Against Viet Cong in Binh Dinh Province

WASHINGTON, February 25.—The United States reported today that it has again sent attack jets to hit large groups of guerrillas in the South Vietnam province of Binh Dinh. The jets were sent south of the 17th parallel, the northern border of South Vietnam.

No Comment From White House On Vietnam Talks

WASHINGTON, February 25.—The White House yesterday warned anyone who needed a white Comment on the current Vietnam peace talks to "select a different dictionary." House Press Secretary John woes said he was "surprised" at the "surprising" number of people who had asked for his opinion of the current peace talks with Viet Cong guerrillas in South Vietnam.

Hassouna Praises Indo-Arab Ties

NEW DELHI, Feb. 25.—Hassouna, Syrian Minister of Health, yesterday praised Indo-Arab ties at a meeting with a group of Indian medical students here.

Visva Bharati University Gives Premier Yousuf Honorary Doctorate

KOLKATA, February 25, (Reuter).—Visva Bharati University here gave Premier Yousuf an honorary doctorate.

Omer Welcomes Pakistan Transit Delegation

KABUL, February 25.—Omer welcomes the Pakistan transit delegation which arrived here yesterday. Omer said Pakistan should make use of this transit route which was now open.
Cry of Land Deform

Strengthening UN

UK May Make Concessions For Test Ban

May 24

UAR Discovers Alleged Spy Ring

Political Parties

Place Of Public Opinion

Important Telephones

Radio Afghanistan Programme

PRESS "Mr's" Glory

The story of the British Prime Minister is not limited to his role in the negotiations leading to the test ban treaty. Lord Chalfont, in a speech earlier this week, said that the British government had made it clear to the United States that it would not enter into any agreement which would in any way prejudice the interests of the United Kingdom.

In a statement to the House of Commons yesterday, Lord Chalfont said that the British government had been informed of the United States' intentions to take part in the test ban negotiations, and that the British government had made it clear to the United States that it would not enter into any agreement which would in any way prejudice the interests of the United Kingdom.

The statement was made in response to a question from a member of the opposition, who asked whether the British government had been informed of the United States' intentions to take part in the test ban negotiations.

Lord Chalfont said that the British government had been informed of the United States' intentions to take part in the test ban negotiations, and that the British government had made it clear to the United States that it would not enter into any agreement which would in any way prejudice the interests of the United Kingdom.

The statement was made in response to a question from a member of the opposition, who asked whether the British government had been informed of the United States' intentions to take part in the test ban negotiations.

Lord Chalfont said that the British government had been informed of the United States' intentions to take part in the test ban negotiations, and that the British government had made it clear to the United States that it would not enter into any agreement which would in any way prejudice the interests of the United Kingdom.

The statement was made in response to a question from a member of the opposition, who asked whether the British government had been informed of the United States' intentions to take part in the test ban negotiations.

Lord Chalfont said that the British government had been informed of the United States' intentions to take part in the test ban negotiations, and that the British government had made it clear to the United States that it would not enter into any agreement which would in any way prejudice the interests of the United Kingdom.

The statement was made in response to a question from a member of the opposition, who asked whether the British government had been informed of the United States' intentions to take part in the test ban negotiations.

Lord Chalfon...