Viet Cong Kills 500 S. Koreans in 5-Day Fight

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 30 (AP) — A Viet Cong night attack killed 500 South Koreans in five days of fighting, an Associated Press source said today.

The source, who spoke on condition that his name not be used, said the Viet Cong attacked a South Korean garrison in the central part of the country, killing 500 of the soldiers.

The source said the attack began with a huge explosion that killed 100 of the troops. The Viet Cong then captured the rest of the garrison and launched a battle against the South Koreans.

The source said the South Koreans were defending a key position in the region.

United Nations Issues Report Of Illegitimacy

UNITED NATIONS, Jan. 30 (UN) — The United Nations has released a report on the problem of illegitimacy, a source said today.

The report, which was compiled by a panel of experts, said that illegitimacy was a major problem in many countries, particularly in developing nations.

The report said that the problem was caused by a lack of access to proper medical care and education, as well as a lack of legal protection for children born out of wedlock.

The report called for increased efforts to address the problem, including providing better medical care and education, and strengthening legal protection for children.

All About Women

A Typical Afghan Girl Is Hard To Find

The Women's Institute in Saigon is one of the few countries in Vietnam where women are able to vote. They do not work outside the home because of the rising price of cigarettes, but they often help their families with household tasks.

Who is the typical Afghan girl? She is described as having a pleasant smile, but she also wants to work at all hours. She is not a cheater, and she is not afraid of hard work. When the government gives a step in the right direction, she is happy. She is not afraid of hard work, and she is always ready to help her family.

On the other hand, the government has been criticized for the existence of a "desire for scorched earth" policy. This means that the government is not willing to compromise with the enemy, and that it is willing to use any means necessary to achieve its goals. This has been a source of concern for many people, and it has led to the formation of a number of opposition groups.
By Anis-Ul-Ulma

A typical Afghan girl is hard to find. Who is the typical Afghan girl? Is she a country girl, a city girl? Is she a housewife, a student, a teacher, a nurse? What is her profession? What is her education? What is her social status? These are some of the questions that are often asked about the typical Afghan girl.

The typical Afghan girl is a woman who is proud of her identity. She is proud of her culture, her language, and her traditions. She is a woman who is modest and respectful. She is a woman who is hardworking and dedicated. She is a woman who is courageous and strong.

The typical Afghan girl is a woman who is resilient. She is a woman who has overcome many challenges and obstacles. She is a woman who has learned to cope with the ups and downs of life. She is a woman who has learned to be strong and independent.

The typical Afghan girl is a woman who is a member of the socialist camp. She is a woman who is a citizen of her country and a member of her nation. She is a woman who is a member of the international community.

The typical Afghan girl is a woman who is a lover of peace. She is a woman who is a defender of peace. She is a woman who is a fighter for peace.

The typical Afghan girl is a woman who is a friend of all. She is a woman who is a sister to all. She is a woman who is a mother to all. She is a woman who is a daughter to all.

The typical Afghan girl is a woman who is a faithful servant of her country. She is a woman who is a faithful servant of her nation. She is a woman who is a faithful servant of the world. She is a woman who is a faithful servant of God.
