Representatives Of 117 Nations To Deal With Longest UN Assembly Agenda In 20 Years

A problem of a United Nations secretariat not brought into the UN is to deal with the agenda of the 117th session of the Assembly, which takes place on Tuesday. The session, which is scheduled to run until December 3, is expected to be the longest in the United Nations history.

The agenda, which covers a wide range of issues, is divided into four main areas: political and security, economic and social, human rights and disarmament.

The political and security issues include the situation in the Middle East, including the Israeli-Palestinian conflict, the situation in Afghanistan, and the situation in the Democratic People's Republic of Korea.

The economic and social issues cover a wide range of topics, including the global economic crisis, climate change, and the status of women.

The human rights issues include the protection of the rights of indigenous peoples, the protection of the rights of women, and the protection of the rights of children.

The disarmament issues include the reduction of nuclear weapons and the prevention of nuclear war.

The session is expected to be attended by representatives of 117 nations, including the five permanent members of the UN Security Council: the United States, Russia, China, France, and the United Kingdom.

Press Announcement

Premier's Speech

The Prime Minister said that the administration of justice in conformity with the spirit of the Constitution would continue to be the top priority of the government.

He also assured the people that the government would continue to work towards the betterment of the country.

Soviet Leader

Soviet Union

The Soviet Union has decided to send a high-level delegation to attend a conference on disarmament in Geneva.

The delegation will be headed by the Soviet Minister of Foreign Affairs.

The conference is to take place in Geneva on March 15.

U.S. Shipment of Petroleum

WASHINGTON, December 30, (AP).—The United States stopped shipments of petroleum and petroleum products to Russia, with shipments of diesel fuel and gasoline being cut off.

The move was in response to Russian demands for increased supplies of American petroleum products.

The United States government has been under pressure to cut off petroleum exports to Russia due to the country's growing oil reserves.

Turkish Assembly

ANKARA, December 29, (Reuters).—The Turkish Assembly has rejected a motion to declare a state of emergency in the country.

The motion was introduced by the opposition party, but the ruling Democratic Party of Turkey (AKP) defeated it by a narrow margin.

Soviet Leader

Mikhail Gorbachev has announced that the Soviet Union will withdraw its troops from Afghanistan by the end of 1989.

The decision follows intense negotiations with the United States and other Western countries.

 Entire China To Support

Cambodia Against U.S., Says Peking Statement

PEKING, December 29, (Xinhua).—China has reaffirmed its support for Cambodia against the United States.

Chinese Foreign Minister Zhao Ziyang said that China would continue to support Cambodia in its struggle against US aggression.

Zhao Ziyang also expressed concern over the recent incidents in Cambodia, including the shooting down of a Chinese plane.

Spacecraft Finds Weather Fine

CAPE KENNEDY, December 30, (AP).—The spacecraft carrying a weather satellite has been launched successfully.

The satellite is expected to provide valuable data on weather patterns in the tropics.

The spacecraft, called Tropospheric Monitoring Satellite (TMS), was launched from Cape Kennedy on December 29.

Ikevoi Comments

On Humphrey's Visit to Japan

MOSCOW, December 30, (AP).—The Soviet Union has dismissed John F. Kennedy's visit to Japan as a "public relations exercise".

The statement follows the recent visit of US Secretary of State Henry Kissinger to Moscow.

Ikevoi, a former Japanese prime minister, said that the visit had been a "public relations exercise" and that it had done little to improve relations between the two countries.

Sukarno Warns Violence Could Destroy Indonesia

JAVA, December 30, (AP).—Sukarno has warned that violence could destroy Indonesia.

In a statement released today, Sukarno said that the country was on the brink of civil war and that only a strong, stable government could prevent it.

Sukarno also called for reunification of the country and an end to the political turmoil.

Spain Won't Establish Relations With Israel

AMMAN: Jordan, December 30, (AP).—Jordan has said that it will not establish diplomatic relations with Israel.

Jordanian Foreign Minister Husein Nazerene said that the move was in response to the Israeli invasion of Lebanon.

The invasion has sparked international condemnation and calls for an end to the conflict.

Humphrey's Visit to Japan

US Vice President Hubert Humphrey has arrived in Japan for a four-day visit.

Humphrey is expected to discuss US-Japanese relations and economic issues.

The visit is the first by a US vice president to Japan in six years.
