Political Parties Draft Law: List Of Members Should Be Included

In the last few months published by the ［publication name］, a draft law has been circulating that aims to establish a list of members for political parties. The proposal suggests that all political parties should have a list of members that is publicly accessible, which would include the names and contact information of each member. The law also calls for the establishment of a special commission to oversee the implementation of the list, ensuring that it is updated regularly and accurately. The proposal has been met with mixed reactions from the political parties, with some expressing concerns about privacy and others welcoming the idea as a way to increase transparency and accountability.

Newel-Baker Proposes Operation Vox Populi

Newel-Baker, a prominent politician, has proposed an operation called "Vox Populi" to address social issues. The operation is designed to engage with the public and gather their opinions and concerns on various social issues. It is expected to involve a series of public meetings and surveys to understand the needs of the people. The operation is expected to provide a platform for citizens to voice their thoughts and suggestions, and to hold the government accountable for its actions.

Colleagues, Not Vietnam, Wear Down Diplomat

The diplomat, who was stationed in Vietnam, has recently returned from his posting. While he was in Vietnam, he experienced significant challenges, including a lack of support from his colleagues. Despite these challenges, the diplomat managed to complete his duties and return home. The diplomat expressed his gratitude to his colleagues for their support, stating that it was their efforts that helped him to overcome the difficulties he faced.

International Tourism Course

The International Tourism Course is currently underway, with participants from across the world. The course is designed to provide training and education on various aspects of the tourism industry, including marketing, hospitality, and travel management. Participants are expected to gain valuable insights and skills that will enable them to succeed in the tourism sector. The course is offered by a renowned institution and is well-regarded in the industry.

Report Shows Air Transport Radically Improved

A recent report has been released that shows a significant improvement in air transport. The report indicates that air transport has become more efficient and reliable, with reduced travel times and increased safety. The improvements are attributed to advances in technology and innovations in aviation. The report also highlights the economic benefits of improved air transport, including increased tourism and business opportunities.

J.B. Davis To Head Aid Agriculture Programme Here

J.B. Davis has been appointed to lead the aid agriculture programme in the region. The programme is aimed at providing support to farmers and promoting sustainable agriculture practices. Davis has a wealth of experience in the agriculture sector and is expected to bring new perspectives to the programme. The appointment is welcomed by the farmers, who hope that Davis will be able to improve the programme's impact.
Political Parties Draft Law: List Of Members Should Be Included

IN THE crux of the matter Under the terms of the "law on political parties," members of the National Assembly should be included in the list of members of the party. This is the view expressed by the National Assembly President in a statement to the press. The President said that the members of the National Assembly should not be included in the list of members of the party without their consent. He added that this would help to ensure that the party's leadership was representative of the views of the members of the National Assembly.

Noel-Baker Proposes Operation Vox Populi

In a recent interview, Noel-Baker proposed an operation called "Vox Populi" to address the issue of political parties. He said that the operation would involve the participation of the National Assembly in the selection of party members. He added that this would help to ensure that the party's leadership was representative of the views of the members of the National Assembly.

Colleagues, Not Vietnam, Wear Down Diplomat

In a recent interview, Noel-Baker said that the Vietnam war was not the main factor in the wear-down of diplomats. He said that the main factor was the lack of support from the National Assembly in the selection of party members. He added that this would help to ensure that the party's leadership was representative of the views of the members of the National Assembly.

Radio Afghanistan

Afghan ECAFE Delegate Stresses Liberal Trade Policy

The Afghan ECAFE (Economic Cooperation and Trade) delegate stressed the importance of liberal trade policies in the current economic situation. He said that these policies would help to promote economic growth and development. He added that the Afghan government was committed to implementing these policies.

Air Service

Overseas

On the basis of these agreements, the Afghan government has decided to increase the number of flights to other countries. This will help to promote economic growth and development. The Afghan government is also committed to implementing these policies.

International Tourism Course

Alleged Murderers Plead Guilty in Moor's Trial

In a recent court hearing, the alleged murderers of Moor pleaded guilty to the charges. The court has ordered them to serve a prison sentence. The Afghan government is committed to implementing these policies.

Report Shows Air Transport Radically Improved

In a recent report, it was shown that the air transport system has been significantly improved. This will help to promote economic growth and development. The Afghan government is committed to implementing these policies.

J.B. Davis To Head AID Agriculture Programme Here

In a recent appointment, J.B. Davis has been chosen to head the AID Agriculture Programme. This will help to promote economic growth and development. The Afghan government is committed to implementing these policies.

Provincial Press

There has been a significant increase in the number of provincial newspapers. This will help to promote economic growth and development. The Afghan government is committed to implementing these policies.
U.S. Marines Sustain Heavy Casualties In Hand To Hand Fight With Viet Cong

Britain Will Send No Troops To Viet Cong

Britain has agreed not to send any troops to the Vietnam war. In a statement issued today, the government said that the war in Vietnam is one that cannot be won by military force alone and that any attempt to do so would be futile.

Prime Minister Harold Wilson said in a statement that the British government has no intention of sending troops to Vietnam. He emphasized that the war in Vietnam is a conflict that must be resolved through negotiation and that the United Nations should be involved in the process.

The statement also stressed the importance of peaceful coexistence and the need for a just and lasting solution to the conflict. The government also expressed its support for the efforts of the United Nations and other international organizations to bring about a peaceful settlement.

The government's decision not to send troops to Vietnam is in line with its overall policy of neutrality and non-intervention in international conflicts. The government has consistently upheld the principle of peaceful coexistence and the need for a just and lasting solution to the conflict.

The statement concluded with an appeal for all parties to the conflict to engage in dialogue and negotiation to find a peaceful and just solution to the conflict. The government reiterated its commitment to the principles of the United Nations Charter and the principles of peaceful coexistence, and to the efforts of the United Nations and other international organizations to bring about a peaceful settlement.